HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THURSDAY, June 19, 1919.

The House met at 10.30 O'clock A. M.
The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Lord God of Heaven and earth, day unto day is uttering speech, and night unto night is showing knowledge. Grant that we may be vocal in praise of Thee and join our words with those of the stars that we may give to Thee the first place in our hearts and lives, thereby having the reasonable assurance that what we bring before Thee shall have Thy worthy consideration, because we shall seek to do Thy will. This has not been the case, nor is it the case to-day in the world that is seething and foaming in discontent and distrust. Until Thy way and will prevails we cannot hope that better times shall exist. Therefore, hasten the day that Thy truth and Thy light may prevail among the children of men, and to this end we beseech Thee that Thou wilt bless us; that we may diligently seek Thy ways, for Thy ways are the paths of peace and righteousness, for Thou dost cause the righteousness that exalteth the nation. Grant, then, that we may find that which shall be pleasing in Thy sight; overrule all selfishness, and control Thou the hearts of men that they may do Thy bidding. And, in the end, may we all be found seeking Thy will and striving for Thy kingdom, and honoring Thy name. We ask it in Christ's name alone. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on motion of Mr. BECKLEY, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1868 (Senate Bill No. 967), entitled

An Act making an appropriation to the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings for the payment of the cost of constructing approaches and necessary rights of way to and for bridges erected in pursuance of the proceedings under the act of May fifth one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws one hundred and seventy-seven) entitled "An Act authorizing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to build bridges over any river not more than one thousand feet and not less than five hundred feet in width at localities not less than ten miles distant from the nearest public bridge over the same river in counties whose indebtedness increased by the cost of such proposed bridge would exceed the constitutional limitation of two per centum of their assessed valuation"

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

person and to file with it a satisfactory bond in a sum sufficient to secure the proper application of the moneys received by such person

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

On page 15, line 16, after the word "person," insert:

Section 3. That section three hundred and nine of article three of said act of Assembly which reads as follows:

"Section 309. Wherever in this article the term 'wages' is used it shall be construed to mean the money rate at which the service rendered is recompensed under the contract of hiring in force at the time of the accident and shall not include grautities received from the employer or others nor shall it include board, lodging, or similar advantages received from the employer unless the money value of such advantages shall have been fixed by the parties at the time of hiring nor shall it include amounts deducted by the employer under the contract of hiring for labor material, supplies, tools, or other things furnished or paid for by the employer and necessary for the performance of such contract by the employe. In occupations involving seasonal employment or employment dependent upon the weather, the employe's weekly wages shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which he has earned from all occupations during the year immediately preceding accident, unless it be shown that during such year, by reason of exceptional causes, such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employe in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings. In continuous employments, if immediately prior to the accident, the rate of wages was fixed by the day, or hour, or by the output of the employe, his weekly wages shall be taken to be five and one-half times his average earnings at such rate for a working day of ordinary length, excluding earnings from overtime and using as a basis of calculation his earnings during so much of the preceding six months as he worked for the same employer. Where the employe is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers, his wages from all employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation," be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 309 Wherever in this article the term "wages" is used it shall be construed to mean the money rate at which the service rendered is recompensed under the contract of hiring in force at the time of the accident and shall not include grautities received from the employer or others nor shall it include amounts deducted by the employer, under the contract of hiring, for labor furnished or paid for by the employer and necessary for the performance of such contract by the employe but shall include board and lodging received from the employer. Whenever the employe receives board and lodging as a part of his wages, the board shall be rated at fifty cents per day and board together with lodging shall be rated at one dollar per day for the purpose of computing wages. In seasonal occupations the employe's weekly wages shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which he has earned from all occupations during the year immediately preceding the accident, unless it be shown, that during such year, by reason of exceptional causes, such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employe, in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings. In continuous employments, if immediately prior to the accident, the rate of wages was fixed by the day or hour or by the output of the employe, his weekly wages shall be taken to be five and one-half times his average earnings at such rate for a working day and using as a basis of calculation his earnings during so much of the preceding six months as he worked for the same employer. Provided, however, that if the employe regularly and habitually worked more than five and one-half days per week, the weekly wage shall be found by multiplying his average earnings for a working day by six, six and one-half or seven according to the customary number of working days constituting an ordinary week in his occupation or trade. Where the employe is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers, his wages from all employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liabe for compensation.

In cases where the employe has been in the employ of the employer less than one full week and by reason of the shortness of time during which the employe has been in the employment or the nature or terms of the employment it is impracticable to ascertain the average weekly wages as hereinbefore provided, the average weekly amount which during the six months previous to the injury has been earned by other persons employed by the same employer under similar contracts of hiring or if there are no persons so employed by other persons employed by other employers under similar contracts of hiring under similar conditions shall be taken as the basis for the ascertainment of the weekly wages of such employe.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to vote intelligently on these amendments.

The SPEAKER. We are now considering the compensation amendments. They are important. It seems to me that the members of the House should be silent enough to listen to the reading of these amendments.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, these are amendments to a piece of legislation that is to my mind very important, and I believe that there are men in this House should know what we are voting on before we decide on this question. If the amendments are good, we should write them into this bill, and if they are not proper, we should not give them our consent. I have tried to get the gist of the amendments as read by the Clerk, and I am frank to say I do not know a thing they contain. I for one should like to know fully what these amendments are and what they contain, and I would request that either the Clerk read them again so we can fully understand them or that the gentlemen offering them give us a full explanation in regard to them.

AMENDMENTS LAID ON TABLE.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move that for the time being these amendments be laid upon the table while the Deputy Attorney General and the attorneys representing some of the laboring bodies finish their consultation with reference to another amendment, so that we can dispose of these amendments with despatch. At the present time Mr. Deevers and Judge Gawthrope are in a consultation with reference to amendments which they are trying to prepare, and I would therefore make this motion that thse amendments be laid on the table for the present

Mr. ADAM C. SCHAEFFER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1547 (Senate Bill No. 861), entitled

An Act to amend the act approved the fourteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred forty) entitled "An Act concerning townships and revising amending and consolidating the law relating thereto"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That sections four hundred thirty-two four hundred thirty-three four hundred thirty-four four hundred thirty-five four hundred thirty-six four hundred thirty-seven and four hundred thirty-eight of the act approved the fourteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred and forty) entitled "An Act concerning townships and revising amending and consolidating the law relating thereto" which read as follows

"Section 432 Each township of the second class shall receive annually from the State fifty per centum of the total amount of road tax collected by such township as shown by the sworn statement of the board of township supervisors contained in the annual report furnished to the State Highway Commissioner on or before the first day of January in each year No township shall receive in any one year more than twenty dollars for each mile of township road in said township Such distribution shall be made on a basis of an average amount to each mile of township road"

"Section 433 Upon receipt of the sworn statement from the board of township supervisors the State Highway Commissioner shall certify to the Auditor General the amount due the respective townships The Auditor General shall draw a warrant upon the State Treasurer for the payment of the amount due such township payable to the treasurer of the board of township supervisors which shall be paid out of the money appropriated for that purpose No such payment shall be made until the township treasurer has filed with the State Highway Commissioner a certified copy of his bond nor until the agreement for the expenditure of such State money together with the townships money has been made and approved as hereinafter provided for"

"Section 434 Whenever the township highway funds together with funds appropriated by the General Assembly for State-aid to township roads have been exhausted the board of supervisors may issue a certificate of indebtedness and borow on the credit of the township money in anticipation of taxes to be collected to the end that work may be performed in proper season and in accordance with rules and regulations prescribed"

"Section 435 Upon the neglect or refusal of the supervisors of any township to carry out the instructions rules and regulations of the State Highway Commissioner then the State Highway Commissioner may withhold from such township the amount to which it would otherwise be entitled for the year in which said neglect or refusal occurred"

"Section 436 The State Highway Department shall furnish blanks to the supervisors in which said supervisors or a majority of them shall make a sworn statement that the money has been expended in building repairing maintaining dragging and improving the township roads according to the instructions standards and specifications or the rules and regulations prescribed by the State Highway Department so far as the available funds and local conditions make it possible"

"Section 437 The provisions of sections four hundred and thirty-three to four hundred and thirty-seven inclusive in so far as they provide that each township of the second class shall receive annually from the State fifty per centum of the total amount of road tax collected by such township but not to exceed twenty dollars per mile are hereby suspended until the following conditions have been fulfilled.

Instead of fifty per centum of such road tax being paid by the State to the township in the manner provided by said sections such township shall be entitled to receive annually from the State such fifty per centum but not exceeding twenty dollars per mile which however shall be first applied to the payment and satisfaction of any deficiency due the township under the provisions of an act approved the twelfth day of April one thousand nine hundred five (Pamphlet Laws one hundred forty-two) entitled "An Act providing for the election and appointment of road supervisors in the several townships of the second class of this Commonwealth defining their duties authorizing them to make repair and maintain roads and bridges let contracts for the same levy and collect taxes employ labor divide townships into districts appoint roadmasters and treasurer purchase road-making implements and machines prescribing penalties for violation of this act and requiring the road supervisors to report to township auditors and to the State Highway Commissioner from time to time and for the payment of a percentage of road tax to townships that abolish the work tax and for the repeal of all laws general local or special inconsistent herewith or supplied hereby" as amended and of an act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred eleven (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred forty-two) entitled 'An Act relating to roads providing for the election and appointment of township supervisors in second class townships defining their powers duties and limitations relating to road tax and the expenditures thereof abolishing the work tax defining certain duties of the clerk of court fixing penalties for violation of this act and making an appropriation to carry out its provisions' and of an act approved the twenty-second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirteen (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred fifteen) entitled 'An Act relating to roads providing for the supervisions construction maintenance and repair of township roads relating to road tax and providing penalties for the violation thereof until such deficiencies have been paid

All moneys so appropriated and paid by the Commonwealth in payment and satisfaction of said deficiency if any shall be paid out and expended in accordance with the provisions of this act"

"Section 438 Moneys levied and collected by the township authorities or received from the State as aid for township roads shall be expended at such place and in such manner as may be agreed upon by the board of supervisors. Such agreement which shall be upon a blank furnished by the State Highway Commissioner shall be written and signed in triplicate by a majority or all of the members of the board and shall be approved by the superintendent in charge of such county or district and the State Highway Commissioner before the same shall take effect and before the State's money shall be paid to the township treasurer. One of such triplicate copies shall be filed with the township treasurer one in the office of the superintendent of the country or district and one with the State Highway Commissioner" be and the same are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 432 That the Commonwealth offers rewards as hereinafter provided for the construction and improvement of township roads and the erection and construction of township bridges in townships of the second-class

All moneys appropriated by the General Assembly from time to time for the payment of rewards to townships of the second class for the construction and improvement of roads and the erection and construction of bridges as in this act provided for shall be apportioned by the State Highway Department among the several counties of this Commonwealth in proportion to the number of miles of township road located in townships of the second class

Of the amount apportioned to the several counties for road and bridge improvements in townships of the second class under the provisions of this act not more than fifteen per centum of such appropriation shall be available in any one township in any such county In case any excess in the amount set aside for use in the county remains after all applications from the several townships in the county have been considered the township commissioner of the State Highway Department shall apportion the excess amount among the townships that have applications on file for State reward for more than fifteen per centum Should there be not enough applications from all the townships in a county to exhaust the apportionment of the State reward fund made to a county then such excess shall be apportioned to the counties where the applications of the townships call for the expenditure of a sum greater than the amount originally apportioned to said county

Applications for rewards for the construction and improvement of township roads and for the erection and construction of township bridges shall be made by the township supervisor of townships of the second class on or before March first one thousand nine hundred and twenty and annually thereafter to the State Highway Department on blanks furnished by the Department which applications shall be considered by the Department in their order of filing Applications not granted by reason of a lack of funds shall be given first consideration in the following year or years

Section 433 Before any roads are constructed or improved or bridges are erected or constructed under the provisions of this act the supervisors of the township of the second class asking for a reward shall furnish to the township commissioner of the State Highway Department a copy of the plans and specifications of the proposed improvement together with estimates of the cost of such improvement unless such plans and estimates have been made by said Department No reward shall be paid

under the provisions of this act to any township until this Commonwealth has approved the plans and specifications as filed in the Department When such plans and specifications have been approved the township commissioner shall certify to the township supervisors the proportion of the cost of such improvement which the Commonwealth agrees to pay The proportion agreed upon to be paid by the Commonwealth shall not exceed the amount per mile as hereinafter provided in this act and where the cost of the improvement is less than that set forth in the estimate or contract a proper deduction shall be made by the Commonwealth for such decrease in cost

Section 434 Rewards shall be granted by the Commonwealth for improvements only of the charter herein set forth viz (a) for grading and draining a section of a road not less than one-half mile in length (b) for gravelling or cindering a grade and drained road not less than one-half mile in length (c) for macademizing a road or for constructing a Telford macadam road of not less than one-half mile in length (d) for constructing a concrete brick or bituminous surfaced road of not less than one-half mile in length (e) for the erection and construction of bridges of three feet or more span constructed of concrete or stone or a combination of concrete and stone or a steel bridge with a floor constructed of a material approved by the State Highway Department (f) for the purchase and installment of culvert and drain pipes

Whenever any improvements of the character mentioned in this section have been completed by any township of the second class the State will pay as a reward the following sums viz I For roads of the character set forth in subdivision (a) thirty-three and one-third per centum of the cost of making such improvement not to exceed four hundred dollars per mile II For roads of the character set forth in sub division (b) thirty-three and one-third per centum of the cost of making such improvement not to exceed one thousand dollars per mile III For roads of the character set forth in subdivision (c) thirty-three and one-third per centum of the cost of making such improvement not to exceed two thousand dollars per mile IV For roads of the character set forth in subdivision (d) thirty-three and one-third per centum of the cost of making such improvement not to exceed three thousand five hundred dollars per mile V For bridges constructed under subdivision (e) thirty-three and one-third per centum of the contract price and not in any case to exceed thirty-three and one-third per centum of the actual cost of said bridge when constructed by the supervisors VI For the purchase and installation of culvert and drain pipes under subdivison (f) thirty-three and one-third per centum of the purchase price of said culvert or drain pipes when the said pipes have been placed but no payment shall be made under this provision for culverts and drain pipes installed in grading and draining a section of road for which payments are made under clause one

The aforesaid rewards shall be based upon roads the improvement of which shall be of a width of not less than sixteen feet and corresponding reduction or addition in the amount of reward shall be made as the width of the improved road is reduced or increased but no reward shall be paid for the improvement of any road of a less width than twelve feet

Section 435 All improvements made in accordance with the provisions of this act may be made by the township supervisors of such township by contract to be let by the township supervisors to the lowest and best bidder after three weeks publication in at least two newspapers published in the county in which such township is located or such improvements may be made partly by the township and partly by contract to be let only after advertisement as herein before provided All the work of making said improvement may be done by the township.

Upon completion of the work for which a State reward has been granted according to the plans and specifications and contract or agreement verified by the sworn statement of a majority of the board of township supervisors and such other evidence as the township commissioner may require Said township commissioner with the approval of the State Highway Commissioner shall certify to the Auditor General the amount of State reward due said township and he shall draw a warrant upon the State Treasurer as provided by act of Assembly to the treasurer of the board of supervisors which shall be paid out of money appropriated for the purpose

Section 436 Whenever the township highway funds have been exhausted the board of supervisors may issue a certificate of indebtedness and borrow on the credit of the township money in anticipation of taxes to be collected to the end that work may be performed in proper season and in accordance with rules and regulations prescribed

Section 437 Upon the neglect or refusal of the supervisors of any township to carry out the instructions rules and regulations of the township commissioner of the State Highway Department then the township commissioner of the State Highway Department may withhold from such township the amount to which it would otherwise be entitled for the year in which said neglect or refusal occurred

Section 438 The State Highway Department shall furnish blanks to the supervisors in which said supervisors or a majority of them shall make a sworn statement that the township road money has been expended in building repairing maintaining dragging and improving the township roads according to the instructions standards and specifications or the rules and regulations prescribed by the State Highway Department so far as the available funds and local conditions make it possible

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON SENATE BILL NO. 412.

Mr. WILLERT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 412, file folio 1369, entitled

An Act to amend clause two of section three hundred and eighty-six of an act approved the fourteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred forty) entitled "An Act concerning townships and revising amending and consolidating the law relating thereto."

was defeated on final passage be reconsidered.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WILLERT. Mr. Speaker, I think that when the bill was voted upon that a great many of the members voted under a mis-apprehension, and at the request of the sponsor of the bill I am offering this motion to reconsider this vote, and if you will vote for the motion I will offer another motion that it be voted upon again in its regular order, and the members will be able to consider it more closely and I will have an opportunity to talk on the bill at that time and explain it. The bill provides that in a township where those living along a road where they want this road lighted by electric lights, if fifty per cent. of the owners along that road offer a resolution to have the road lighted, then it can be assessed and the property owners along that highway will pay for the lighting and the construction of the lights along that highway.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WILLERT. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1460 (Senate Bill No. 850), as follows:

An Act to further amend an act approved the fifth day of March one thousand nine hundred and six (Pamphlet Laws sixty-three) entitled "An Act to provide for the personal registration of electors in cities of the third class of this Commonwealth to make such registration a condition of the right to vote in such cities and to provide penalties for violation of its provisions" as amended

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section four of an act approved the fifth day of March one thousand nine hundred and six (Pamphlet Laws sixty-three) entitled "An Act to provide for the personal registration of electors in cities of the third class of this Commonwealth to make such registration a condition of the right to vote in such cities and to provide penalties for violation of its provisions" as amended by an act approved the sixth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and thirty-eight) entitled "An Act to further amend the act approved the fifth day of March one thousand nine hundred and six entitled 'An Act to provide for the personal registration of electors in cities of the third class of this Commonwealth to make such registration a condition of the right to vote in such cities and to provide penalties for violation of its provisions' by providing for special registrations for special elections" which reads as follows

"Section 4 Every person claiming the right to vote must appear in person before the registrars in the precinct or ward in which he lives on one of the days prescribed by law prior to every November election and if he has subsequently to the said November election moved into another precinct or ward he must appear in person before the registrars in the district to which he has thus removed in order to enable him to vote at the ensuing spring primary or any ensuing special election unless in either case he is prevented by sickness or necessary absence from the city from appearing before the said registrars to be registered in person In either of these cases it shall be his right at any time to present his petition to the county commissioners and in case they shall refuse to order his name placed on the registration list the said petitioner may appeal to the court of common pleas of the district in which he resides if the said court is in session or if not in session to any judge thereof whereupon the said court shall grant a rule upon the said county commissioners to show cause why the name of the said person should not be placed upon the register and the said court or judge thereof shall fix a day certain for the return of the said rule at which time the parties can be heard and upon the return of the said rule upon a hearing duly had if the said court or judge shall be satisfied that the facts set forth in the petition are true and that the applicant was prevented by sickness or necessary absence from the city from appearing in person before the registrars and being registered and is qualified to vote the rule may be made absolute and the registrars shall be directed to place the name of such person or persons upon the registers" be and the same is hereby further amended to read as follows

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1588, as follows:

An Act to provide for payment of rent in receivership proceedings and insolvency proceedings against tenants

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in all cases where a tenant or tenants become insolvent and any assignment for the benefit of creditors is executed or a receiver is legally appointed for or bankruptcy or other insolvency proceedings are instituted either by or against the tenant or tenants covering goods and chattels upon demised premises and which are liable to distress by the landlord for rent the landlord shall be first entitled to receive out of the proceeds of the sale of such goods and chattels by the legal representatives of the tenant any sum or sums of money due the landlord for rent of such demised premises at the time of the institution of the receivership or insolvency proceedings not exceeding one year's rent Provided That if the proceeds of the sale by the legal representatives of the tenant shall not be sufficient to pay the landlord shall be entitled to receive the proceeds of sale after deducting so much for costs as the landlord would be liable to pay in case of a sale under distress "nothing in this act shall be construed to deprive any person of preference for wages now secured by law in any insolvency or receivership proceedings."

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BRADY. Mr. Speaker, there was some objection to this bill because of the fact that it was presumed to disturb the priority of wages, but the bill has been amended to remove that objection and makes the law just what most lawyers thought it was before 1916, before the decision of the Supreme Court in Grayson vs. Eyman, in 1916. The bill as it now stands is equitable and fair and makes the law what every one presumed it to be before 1916.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. Speaker, this bill is not upon the files.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is so informed and further consideration will be postponed for the present.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered. That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

The SPEAKER. House Bill No. 874 and House Bill No. 1320, bills on third reading, are not on the files, and will be passed over for the present.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1130, entitled

An Act to prohibit experiments upon living dogs and providing a penalty for the violation thereof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McINTRYE. Mr. Speaker, this bill under consideration at the present time has caused the members in the rear of the hall a lot of study. I understand from the sponsor of this bill that the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Di Lemmo) can explain the bill, and I would therefore ask him to make his explanation.

Mr. DI LEMMO. Mr. Speaker, not being familiar with the bill I would suggest that some other members from Philadelphia explain it.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, during the present session we have had everything but a dog fight, so we may as well make up our minds to have it now. Mr. Speaker, during the course of my career I have read many brilliant tributes to the dog, but none that I have ever read has surpassed the wonderful tribute to the dog in the preamble of this bill. I will ask you to bear with me just a minute while I read it.

"Whereas, The dog has made a wonderful war record, for from everywhere word comes of his courage, his faithfulness, his cheery comradeship and his keen intelligence; he has been decorated for bravery; he served his country, followed its flag and died for its cause; and as a tribute not only to the dog, but to the soldiers who speak and plead for him."

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is a most important measure, and I believe that mere sentiment should not enter into its consideration. I have never yet met a doctor who, in the course of his profession, found any pleasure in dissecting dogs. It is just as much work for them as it is for any other men carrying on their own particular professions to perform their work. I rise to protest against the passage of this bill at the request of the Commissioner of Health, Colonel Martin. You will recall that during the Spanish-American War many of our troops died of fever in Cuba. That was due to the fact that up to that time no cure had been found, no toxin or serum had been found. From that time to the present the medical profession has been finding cures and preventives for those diseases, so that during the last war very few of our troops died from disease.

The Commissioner of Health has given six reasons why this bill should not be passed, and at his request I will read those reasons.

"1. There are from six to ten thousand dogs destroyed in the State of Pennsylvania without benefit to anyone.

"2. It is essential that certain drugs and certain serums and injections be tried on animals before subjecting a human being to their use. Stray dogs can and should be used for this purpose.

"3. In teaching medical students they learn from dealing with living tissue. The dogs are put to sleep, suffer no pain, and are destroyed, having served a useful purpose and with no more pain, often not as much, as is attendant upon their public destruction.

"4. The results of certain surgical procedures can be studied better on dogs than on human beings. In such cases the dog is carefully nursed and goes through a convalescence as would a human being, but he takes the place of the human being during the trial stage.

"5. The dogs used are the stray dogs; the wastage, the dogs that are destroyed in any event.

"6. The doctor or scientist who uses dogs for these purposes sees to it that in dying they suffer no pain. It is not because he likes it, or enjoys it, or wants to, but because he is to be helped in the saving of human life and suffering."

Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, on behalf of the medical profession of Pennsylvania, and at the request of the Commissioner of Health, I ask that this bill be defeated.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: What the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Golder) said is all very true. There was a time perhaps in my life, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, that I was inclined to believe that vivisection was vicious; but, if ever a conviction dawned upon me, it was the fact that vivisection has promoted science in this country and has placed it far ahead of all other nations. I want to say to this House with seriousness that if it had not been for vivisection as it has been performed on dogs the soldiers who are now returning to their homes would not have been able to go into the war, for the knowledge we have of the arteries was obtained alone from vivisection. Now gentlemen, if we are going to take our place in the world, if science is to be anything, we have got to move along. Sentiment is a splendid thing, Mr. Speaker; sentiment encourages the boy on the battlefield; but science and research cure him and bring him back. Now gentleman, in all seriousness, do not vote upon this bill without considering the men who toiled last year when the epidemic of influenza was ravaging our State. The medical profession is the greatest check and safeguard we have against disease, and vivisection is not vicious. The physician and surgeon are the best friends we have, and if this bill gets a negative vote I am sure your conscience will not trouble you.

Mr. MEHRING. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Golder).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Golder) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. MEHRING. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that the gentleman's former boss was a director of the University of Pennsylvania, John C. Bell?

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, John C. Bell was never my boss, but he was a gentleman of public spirit and rendered great public service. I desire to say, Mr. Speaker, John C. Bell was never my boss. He was a man of public spirit and public service. He served on the board of directors of the University, that is a fact.

Mr. MEHRING. Mr. Speaker, this is a good and meritorious bill. I did not intend to get up and talk on it. I think every man in the House will vote for this bill. As Mr. Golder has said, dogs have been of great benefit to the public, in general, and especially in the late war. I would like to have every man vote for this bill

MOTION TO CONSIDER SENATE BILL NO. 993.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that Senate Bill No. 993 (House Bill No. 1869), on page 18 of to-day's calendar, entitled

An Act to amend an act approved the second day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and thirty-six) entitled "An Act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder" and providing when the same snall become effective be taken from the table for consideration.

Mr. McINTYRE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I have gone to the office of the House Sergeant-at-arms, and also to the office of the Senate Sergeant-at-arms, and have endeavored to get copies of this bill, as it is not on our files. It is not here, and I don't think that we are ready to vote on this measure until we are ready to vote on it intelligently.

The SPEAKER. The bill is not on the files; therefore it cannot be considered at this time.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1316, entitled

An Act relating to the appointment of persons in the assessing departments in cities of the third class constituting a civil service board in relation thereto Providing for and regulating examinations the manner of appointments and the manner and power of removal of employes in said department and providing a method of fixing compensation of examiners

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

"Section 7 That section one hundred fifty of article thirteen of said act which reads as follows

"'Section 150 All actions for violation of any provision of this act shall be taken within one year from the time the offense is committed The Commissioner of Fisheries is hereby authorized to employ legal counsel to assist in the enforcement of this act and to defend the officers and employes of the Department of Fisheries for acts done in the proper performance of their duties' is hereby amended to read as follows'

"Section 150 All actions for violation of any provisions of this act shall be taken within one year from the time the offense is committed'"

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the amendments read again. What is the file folio?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. Speaker, I think I can give the information. House Bill No. 964 (Senate Bill No. 910) is the amended Fish Code Bill, the bill that I have repeatedly explained to the members. In the event of your passing this bill and concurring in the amendments of the Senate, it will give the privilege of fishing in the future, provided it becomes a law, with the use of rods, outlines, fish baskets eel racks, etc.; and I recommend that the members support the bill.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne (Mr. Powell).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. Speaker, I will.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I notice in the amended form here it says nothing at all—the first section is omitted.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. Speaker, I cannot hear the gentleman.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, under the old act, as I recall it, trout could not be caught and kept under six inches. Does this amendment permit the keeping of trout of all sizes?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. Speaker, it does.

On the qestion recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 19, 1919.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed a resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 981.

Accordingly the original bill is herewith returned.

WILLIAM C. SPROUL.

Mr. CHARLES A. REBER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill, be laid on the table.

Mr. RINN. Mr. SPEAKER, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE RECALLED FROM GOVERNOR.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1247, as follows:

An Act to amend section six hundred and seventeen of an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and nine) entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" and providing for the construction re-construction or repair of school buildings or work upon school property within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by contract where the cost value or amount of same including labor and material exceeds the sum of three hundred dollars

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section six hundred and seventeen of an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and nine) entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" which reads as follows

Section 617 Every contract in excess of three hundred dollars ($300.00) made by any school district in this Commonwealth for the introduction of heating ventilating or lighting systems or the construction reconstruction or repair of any school building or work upon any school property shall be awarded to the lowest and best bidder after due public notice has been given upon proper terms asking for competitive bids" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 617 All construction reconstruction repairs or work of any nature including the introduction of heating ventilating or lighting system upon any school building or upon any school property made by any school district in this Commonwealth where the entire cost value or amount of such construction reconstruction repairs or work including labor and material shall exceed three hundred dollars ($300.00) shall be done under contract or contracts to be entered into by such school district with the lowest responsible bidder upon proper terms after due public notice has been given asking for competitive bids

On the question,

NAYS—1.

Bell,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1095, as follows:

An Act to amend section four of an act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and sixty-nine) entitled "An Act regulating policies of insurance against liability arising under article three of the Workmen's Compensation Act of one thousand nine hundred and fifteen providing for the regulation of premium rates therefor and providing penalties for the violation thereof" by prohibiting the application of any system of schedule or merit rating to insurance premiums except through a rating bureau approved by the Commissioner of Insurance and by requiring copies of insurance policies and endorsements thereon to be filed with a bureau so approved

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section four of the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and sixty-nine) entitled "An Act regulating policies of insurance against liability arising under article three of the Workmen's Compensation Act of one thousand nine hundred and fifteen providing for the regulation of premium rates therefor and providing penalties for the violation thereof" which reads as follows

"Section 4 The State Workmen's Insurance Fund and every insurance association and corporation which insures employers against liability for compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act of one thousand nine hundred and fifteen shall file with the Commissioner of Insurance its classification of risks and premiums together with basis rate and schedule or merit ratings if a system of schedule or merit rating be in use none of which shall take effect until the Commissioner of Insurance shall have approved the same as adequate for the risks to which they respectively apply The Commissioner of Insurance may withdraw his approval of any premium rate or schedule made by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund or any insurance corporation or association if in his judgment such premium rate or schedule is inadequate to provide the necessary reserves Such premium rates or system of schedule or merit rating shall take no account of any physical impairment of employes or the extent to which employes have persons dependent upon them for support

On and after January first one thousand nine hundred and sixteen neither the State Workmen's Insurance Fund nor any insurance association or corporation may issue renew or carry beyond anniversary date any insurance for compensation under the Workmen's Compensation act of one thousand nine hundred and fifteen at premium rates which are less than those approved by the Commissioner of Insurance for such carrier as adequate for the risks to which they respectively apply Provided however That if the Commissioner of Insurance shall have previously approved a system of schedule or merit rating filed with him by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund or any insurance association or corporation it may apply the same to risks subject thereto but any reduction from the basis rate filed with and approved by the Commissioner of Insurance on account of the application of such system of schedule or merit rating shall be clearly set forth in the insurance contracts or the indorsements attached thereto

The satistical and actuarial data compiled by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund shall at all times be available to the State Insurance Commissioner for his use in judging the adequacy or inadequacy of rates and schedules filed and it shall be the duty of the manager of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund to render all possible assistance to the State Insurance Department in carrying out the provisions of this act

The Commissioner of Insurance may require every insurance association or corporation which insures employers or employes under the Workmen's Compensation act of one thousand nine hundred and fifteen to file with its annual statement a sworn report of its loss experience in such detail and form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Insurance

The Commissioner of Insurance shall have the power to suspend or revoke the license of any insurance association or corporation which violates any of the provisions of this act" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 The State Workmen's Insurance Fund and every insurance association and corporation which insures employers against liability for compensation under the Workmen's Compensation act of one thousand nine hundred and fifteen shall file with the Commissioner of Insurance its classification of risks and premiums together with basis rate and schedule or merit ratings if a system of schedule or merit rating be in use none of which shall take effect until the Commissioner of Insurance shall have approved the same as adequate for the risks to which they respectively apply The Commissioner of Insurance may withdraw his approval of any premium rate or schedule made by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund or any insurance corporation or association if in his judgment such premium rate or schedule is inadequate to provide the necessary reserves Such premium rates or system of schedule or merit rating shall take no account of any physical impairment of employes or the extent to which employes have persons dependent upon them for support

On and after July first one thousand nine hundred and nineteen neither the State Workmen's Insurance Fund nor any insurance association or corporation shall issue renew or carry any insurance against liability under the Workmen's Compensation act of one thousand nine hundred and fifteen at premium rates which are less than those approved by the Commissioner of Insurance for such carrier as adequate for the risks to which they respectively apply Provided however That if the Commissioner of Insurance shall have previously approved a system of schedule or merit rating filed with him by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund or any insurance association or corporation the same may be applied to risks subject thereto only by a rating bureau approved by the Commissioner of Insurance as adequately equipped for the uniform and impartial application thereof but any reduction or increase from the basis rate filed with and approved by the Commissioner of Insurance on account of the application of such system of schedule or merit rating shall be clearly set forth in the insurance contracts or the endorsements attached thereto An attested copy of every policy of insurance against liability under the Workmen's Compensation act and an attested copy of every endorsement upon any such policy shall be filed with the rating bureau aforesaid

The statistical and actuarial data compiled by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund shall at all times be available to the the duty of the manager of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund to render all possible assistance to the State Insurance Department in carrying out the provisions of this act

The Commissioner of Insurance may require every insurance association or corporation which insures employers or employes under the Workmen's Compensation act of one thousand nine hundred and fifteen to file with its annual statement a sworn report of its loss experience in such detail and form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Insurance

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1588, as follows:

An Act to provide for payment of rent in receivership proceedings and insolvency proceedings against tenants

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in all cases where a tenant or tenants become insolvent and any assignment for the benefit of creditors is executed or a receiver is legally appointed for or bankruptcy or other insolvency proceedings are instituted either by or against the tenant or tenants covering goods and chattels upon demised premises and which are liable to distress by the landlord for rent the landlord shall be first entitled to receive out of the proceeds of the sale of such goods and chattels by the legal representatives of the tenant any sum or sums of money due the landlord for rent of such demised premises at the time of the institution of the receivership or insolvency proceedings not exceeding one year's rent Provided That if the proceeds of the sale by the legal representatives of the tenant shall not be sufficient to pay the landlord and the costs of the insolvency proceedings the landlord shall be entitled to receive the proceeds of sale after deducting so much for costs as the landlord would be liable to pay in case of a sale under distress "nothing in this act shall be construed to deprive any person of preference for wages now secured by law in any insolvency or receivership proceedings"

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill which was amended, as stated the other day, by Mr. Brady. If you will examine the bill, you will notice that it is true that it has been amended, but if you will notice further, that according to this form, it does not bring out the question in regard to rent and wages. I question very seriously whether or not it is in good form as it is now. I requested Mr. Brady to amend it so that it would be distinct and definite, that wages would come in ahead of rent. At the present time, in its present form, I see no reason why this bill should be passed if it was not for the purpose of cutting out wages. Mr. Brady says that rent shall be first paid out of the proceeds of an insolvent sale, and if there is not sufficient to pay the rent, then the landlord shall take the whole proceeds, and then with a proviso that this shall not be affected by law as regards to the wage claim. It seems to me that the form of the bill is very bad and is liable to cause considerable trouble in construing just what this means. If this bill is in proper form and if it means that wages come ahead of rent, I will be with him, but under no condition should a bill be passed by this House that cuts out wages in preference to a rent claim.

Mr. BRADY. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: Of course, I realize, that the members of the House must regret very much that the bill is so badly drawn and that the wishes of the very able gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander) were not acceded to, but the thought was that the proviso added to the bill now that "nothing in this act shall be construed to deprive any person of preference for wages now secured by law in any insolvency or receivership proceedings," would leave it that the wage claims would have the same priority that they have under the present act. As I said this morning, the reason for the introduction of this act is the decision of the court in the case of Grayson v. Aiman, 252 Pa., 461. I quote from that case:

"If it is just and equitable, as the Legislature by its statute of 1891 has in effect declared, that in a case of an assignment for the benefit of creditors, the landlord who has not made a levy shall be entitled to this amount of preference, is it not equally just and equitable that the court, when by its officers it takes possession of the tenant's property, and thus deprives the landlord of his right to levy, should grant the landlord, in distribution, the same preference?"

And the court said:

"Were the question addressed to the law making power, it is probable that it would be found most difficult to give a convincing reason in support of a negative reply."

Now, the gentleman from Delaware County (Mr. Alexander) has attempted to give that convincing reason, but I do not think any members of the House can see where his reason is very pertinent. The amendments as made were in accord with the wishes of those who had objection to it on account of wage claims, and the different members of the House who were consulted in regard to the bill agreed that the amendment was sufficient to keep wage claims in the same priority as they now have under the different acts, because under the Act of 1891, the only priority of rent was in the case of an assignment for the benefit of creditors and the thought was that in all inselvency cases the rent claim should have priority because of the fact that the reason the landlord has not come in with his claim is because he might be lenient; in other words, when the rent was not paid on the day it was due, the probable reason he did not go into court and ask for his money was the fact that he was lenient to the tenant, and the court has said in the case I quoted that it is just and equitable that the landlord should have his priority, I do not think any member in this House feels that the priority of wage claims has been made inferior to that of rent claims.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1702 (Senate Bill No. 950), entitled

An Act to amend the first section of an act approved the eighth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and eighty-seven) entitled "An Act fixing the salaries and providing for the expenses of the Directors of the Poor in the several counties of this Commonwealth"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BENCHOFF. Mr. Speaker, this bill will reduce the salary of our Directors of the Poor two hundred dollars. I would like to know if it has the same effect on the other counties. If the tendency is to increase salaries at this time, this bill is not a good one.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 874, as follows:

An Act relating to public service companies abolishing ready to serve charges and prescribing penalties

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be unlawful for any public service company to impose upon consumers of its service any charge commonly called a ready to serve charge

Section 2 If any public service company attempts to collect any charge in violation of the provisions of section one of this act by a discontinuation of service such company shall be liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars which shall be recovered by an action in the name of the Commonweath as penalties of like amount are now by law recoverable

Section 3 The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth shall enforce the provisions of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, line 1, by inserting after the word "public" the words "and municipal."

Amend title, lines 2, 3 and 4, by striking out the following: "requiring such companies to supply all instruments and devices necessary and incidental to their service."

Amend section 1, page 1, line 4, by inserting after the word "public" the words "or municipal."

Amend section 1, page 1, line 6, by inserting after the word "serve" the words "or minimum."

Amend section 1, page 1, line 6, by inserting after the word "public" the words "or municipal."

Amend section 2, page 2, line 11, by inserting after the word "Commonwealth" the following "or the municipality, as the case may be."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection?

Mr. DAY. Mr. Speaker, there has been lots of time to add amendments to this bill heretofore. If amendments are put into the bill now, it will kill the bill, because there is not sufficient time left to pass it finally in the House and Senate, and for that reason I object to the insertion of the amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections, and unanimous consent is refused.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DAY. Mr. Speaker, the title of the bill as it appears on the calendar is misleading. In the first place, the bill was amended by striking out certain sections in committee without making the title of the bill conform to the amendments as made in the committee. When the bill came up for second reading an amendment to the title was inserted, but it seems that the printer neglected to get the correction in the title of the bill as given in the calendar now. There is nothing in the bill now except the matter of the charge for "ready to serve." That is all there is in the bill.

On the question recurrng,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

An Act requiring the delivery of explosives to miners in the anthracite region at points below the surface regulating the transportation and storage of explosives under rules and regulations adopted by the Chief of the Department of Mines and providing a penalty

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That on and after the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen explosives to be used by the miners in the anthracite region shall be delivered to them by the operator of such mine or some one for him at a point below the surface most convenient to their place of work

If any controversy shall arise between any miner operator or foreman as to the points at which explosives are to be delivered such controversy shall be referred to the proper mine inspector whose decision thereon taking into consideration practicability and safety shall be final Explosives shall be taken into the mines for the use of the miners and shall be there transported and stored under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Chief of the Department of Mines and no greater quantity of explosives shall be taken or held in any mine at any time than that necessary for delivery to the miners of such mine for one day's work

Section 2 The quantity of explosives supplied to each miner shall be in accordance with an order left by such miner at the mine foreman's office the day previous the quantity not to exceed the amount provided by law

Section 3 Any operator who shall fail or neglect or refuse to furnish explosives to miners as in this act provided or who shall fail or neglect or refuse to furnish explosives to any miner as required by any decision of the mine inspector or who shall violate any of the rules and regulations adopted by the Chief of the Department under the authority of this act shall upon conviction in a summary proceeding before a magistrate alderman or justice of the peace be sentenced to pay a fine of ten dollars for each such failure neglect or refusal which fine when collected shall be for the use of the county

Section 4 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

NAYS—1.

Hampson,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1724 (Senate Bill No. 1121), entitled

An Act to amend an act approved the eleventh day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen entitled "An Act making it a misdemeanor for a parent wilfully to neglect to support a child born out of lawful wedlock whether such child shall have been begotten or shall have been born within or without this Commonwealth providing punishment therefor and empowering the court to make an order for support and to enforce the same And declaring persons making false statements in certain cases guilty of perjury"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GANS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I do not know the purpose of it but I will submit to any interrogation.

Mr. GANS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Delaware the purpose of this bill?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Glass).

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, all that this bill provides is the time that prosecutions under this act may be brought.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1696 (Senate Bill No. 716), entitled

An Act to amend an act entitled "An Act granting to water power companies and other corporations owning or controlling water power authority to develop and distribute electric power by means of their water power and to erect construct and maintain the necessary buildings plant and apparatus for that purpose" approved the second day of July Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five by giving to such companies the right of eminent domain and conferring upon The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania certain powers with respect thereto

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ALLAN D. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend page 3, lines 15 and 16, by striking out the following: "except electric conduits poles and towers."

Line 17 by inserting after the word "system" the following: "except electric conduits poles and towers."

Amend white file folio 2948 (page 4), line 27, add the following: "And provided further that nothing contained in this act shall be construed as in any wise repealing, amending or modifying the act entitled "An Act providing that the right of eminent domain, as respects the appropriation of streams, rivers or waters or the land covered thereby, shall not be exercised by water companies incorporated under law" approved the thirteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and five (Pamphlet Laws one hundred fifty-two)."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent tothe insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection?

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections.

Mr. ALLAN D. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, before this matter is finally determined, I would like to have the opportunity of explaining to the House the reason why these amendments are offered. The bill as it now stands on the calendar I believe is objectionable. I believe, however, that these amendments will so correct the bill that it will not be objectionable to anyone who is opposed to the passage of the bill, on the ground that the right of eminent domain should not be granted any further, so far as they concern our natural resources. As I understand these amendments, they will make the bill so that it will provide that these companies named in the bill will have the right of eminent domain only for the purpose of constructing transmission lines. This is an attempt on the part of the parties interested in the bill and opponents to the bill to get together, to reach an agreement, and I think these amendments ought to go in. The sponsor of the bill, Senator Daix, has concurred in the amendments.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my objection.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

SENATE MESSAGE.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, June 19, 1919.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That Senate Bill No. 1051, entitled "An Act to amend section two thousand and thirty-five of an act approved the eighteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) entitled 'An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith,' " be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1698 (Senate Bill No. 919), entitled

An Act to amend an act entitled "An Act to amend an act entitled 'An Act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations' approved the twenty-ninth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four providing for the incorporation and regulation of electric light heat and power companies" approved the eighth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine (Pamphlet Laws one hundred and thirty-six) by giving to electric light heat and power companies the right of eminent domain and conferring upon The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania certain powers with respect thereto"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ALLAN D. MILLER. Mr Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend section 2, page 3, line 29, by striking out the following: "except electric conduits, poles and towers"; also amend same section, page 4, line 3, by inserting after the word "system" the following: "except electrical conduits, poles and towers."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objections? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1654 (Senate Bill No. 946), entitled

An Act authorizing cities of the third class to surrender their charter and be constituted a borough and providing the procedure therefor

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ROBERT L. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen: This bill which is now before us is a referendum bill to refer to the people of third class cities the question whether or not they shall recall their charters, that is, we are going to the radical extent of letting people determine for themselves whether or not they shall abide by and be under the general Third Class City Act in this State. I think that there is no question but what this bill is absolutely unconstitutional. Only a few days ago we decided a similar question to this on a point of order raised by the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Ramsey). I think, gentlemen, this is a dangerous precedent for us to set. I think we ought not to give to the cities the referendum and recall of their charters. Under the Constitution, no city can now adopt its charter. It is the province of the General Assembly to do that, and then pass an act for all cities in that class. We believe it to be dangerous to let any city that desires to do so take itself out of this class. The League of Third Class Cities is very much opposed to this bill. It is their opinion that it is unconstitutional, and I believe you will agree with me that this bill is clearly unconstitutional.

Mr. HOLLINGSWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interfogate the gentleman from Lawrence (Mr. Robert L. Wallace).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lawrence permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROBERT L. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I will.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. HOLLINGSWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Lawrence (Mr. Robert L. Wallace) if there is not a third class city in his county that wished to go back into a borough, and did so?

Mr. ROBERT L. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I cannot hear the gentleman.

Mr. HOLLINGSWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman if there is not a third class city in his county that found the government of a third class city more expensive than they could meet, and did go back to a borough?

Mr. ROBERT L. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, not in my county. We have but one third class city. It has been a third class city for many years. I think the gentleman refers to the borough of Beaver Falls. That borough became a third class city, but owing to an error in the procedure making it a third class city, that is, by their violation of the law providing that it could come into that class, the courts set it aside, and they were automatically put back into the class of boroughs, not through the vote of the people, but as the result of a court decree, on account of the mistake they made in violating the provision of the Third Class City Act. That was in an adjoining county, not in my county.

Mr. HOLLINGSWORTH. Mr. Speaker, in speaking with one of the commissioners of the county in which Wellsboro is situated, he told me they had tried to be a third class city for a year and a half and wished to go back to a borough, but that there was no law which permitted them to go back They then took up the illegality of the election, and found that they were not legally in the third class city class, and got back through a technicality. Now this bill only permits a third class city to go back into a borough; and it seems to me when we find that the expense of running a third class city is more than it can afford and it wants to go back into a borough, it should have the opportunity to do so. Whether it is constitutional or not, I do not know; but it is certainly a fair proposition, and I would like to see the members vote on it.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lawrence (Mr. Robert L. Wallace).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lawrence permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROBERT L. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I will.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, coming from one of the larger cities, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lawrence (Mr. Robert L. Wallace) as to how a borough becomes a city. I do not care whether it is first or second class; I would like to know how a borough becomes a city.

Mr. ROBERT L. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, While I am not very familiar with borough law, my understanding is that a borough becomes a third class city by petitioning the court, setting forth its desires, and then by a vote of the people. It must have a population of ten thousand or more before it is permitted to become a third class city. Then when it becomes a third class city, it comes under all of the provisions which, in no case, provide for a referendum or the right to adopt its own charter. There are many people in this State who believe cities should adopt their charters, but it cannot be done under the Constitution. There was a bill passed by this General Assembly for an amendment to the Constitution permitting cities to adopt their own charter, and I think there is no logical reason why they should vote themselves out from under the Third Class City Act when they have no right under the Constitution to adopt their own charter.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, it only seemed to me, as the result of the explanation given by the gentleman from Lawrence (Mr. Robert L. Wallace), that inasmuch as boroughs have a referendum to become cities this bill has a lot of logic in it, because by the same logic they should be able to go back into boroughs. It strikes me as a convenient way to start and finish.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1753 (Senate Bill No. 848), as follows:

An Act designating the manner the courts and the cases in which suits may be brought against the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing for service of process therein and defining the liability of the Commonwealth in such suits

Whereas Section eleven of article I of the Constitution of Pennsylvania provides that "All courts shall be open and every man for an injury done him in his lands goods person or reputation shall have remedy by due course of law and right and justice administered without sale denial or delay Suits may be brought against the Commonwealth in such manner in such courts and in such cases as the Legislature may by law direct" and

Whereas The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has recently declared special Acts of Assembly authorizing suits in trespass to be brought against the Commonwealth to be unconstitutional

Now therefore To carry out and to give full force and effect to section eleven of article one of the Constitution of Pennsylvania and to provide a general system for the bringing of suits against the Commonwealth by virtue of said section

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That suits in assumpsit upon contracts express or implied whether made before or after the approval of this act may be brought against the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the court of common pleas of the county in which the seat of government is located and prosecuted therein in such manner in such cases and within such times as like suits are brought and prosecuted against other defendants

Section 2 Suits in trespass to recover damages for injuries to person or property or for death whether such injuries were suffered or such death occurred before or after the approval of this act may be brought against the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the court of common pleas of the county in which the seat of government is located and prosecuted therein in such manner in such cases and within such times as like suits may be brought and prosecuted against other defendants

Section 3 In all suits brought under the provisions of this act in which the facts whereon such suits are founded occured prior to its approval the date of such approval by the Governor shall for the purpose of the application of the statutes of limitation be taken as the time when the right of action accrued

Section 4 In suits in trespass brought under the provisions of this act the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall be liable for the negligence malfeasance or misfeasance of her officers agents servants or employes to the same extent only as other principals and employers would be liable under like circumstances

Section 5 The writ of summons and any pleading notice or rule to be served upon the Commonwealth in any suit brought under the provisions of this act may be served upon the Attorney General of the Commonwealth or upon any of his deputies by handing a true and attested copy thereof to him personally or by handing a true and attested copy thereof to the chief clerk or other person for the time being in charge of his office at the seat of government Such service may be made by the sheriff of the county in which the seat of government is located Provided that the Attorney General or any of his deputies may accept service of any writ of summons or of any pleading notice or rule with the same effect as if personally served therewith

Section 6 In any suit bought under the provisions of this act the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall not be required to file an affidavit of defense

Section 7 The fact that a special act of Assembly has heretofore been passed authorizing a plaintiff or plaintiffs to bring suit against the Commonwealth shall not affect the right of such plaintiff or plaintiffs to bring suit upon the same facts under the provisions of this act Provided that nothing in this act shall be construed to apply to any suit in which recovery from the Commonwealth has already been had or which has been duly prosecuted to trial and final judgment upon its merits and in which final judgment has been entered in favor of the Commonwealth

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1730 (Senate Bill No. 226), as follows:

An Act to further amend the twenty-second section of an act entitled "An Act to regulate the nomination and election of public officers requiring certain expenses incident thereto to be paid by the several counties and punishing certain offenses in regard to such elections" approved the tenth day of June eighteen hundred and ninety-three as amended by an act approved the twenty-ninth day of April nineteen hundred and three by providing a manner in which voters may designate their choice of candidates and repealing acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the twenty-second section of an act entitled "An Act to regulate the nomination and election of public officers requiring certain expenses incident thereto to be paid by the several counties and punishing certain offenses in regard to such elections" approved the tenth day of June eighteen hundred and ninety-three as amended by an act approved the twenty-ninth day of April nineteen hundred and three which reads as follows

"Section 22 On receipt of his ballot the voter shall forthwith and without leaving the space enclosed by the guard-rail retire to one of the voting shelves or compartments and draw a curtain or shut the screen or door and shall then prepare his ballot as follows

If he desires to vote for every candidate of a political party he may make a cross-mark in the appropriate square opposite the name of the party of his choice in the straight party column on the left of the ballot and every such cross-mark shall be equivalent to a vote for every candidate for the party so marked

If he desires to vote for an entire group of Presidential electors he may place a cross-mark in the appropriate square at the right of the name of the party of his choice If he desires to divide his vote among candidates from different groups of Presidential electors he shall make a cross-mark in the appropriate square to the right of the name of each candidate for Presidential elector for whom he desires to vote Provided That a mark in the straight party column opposite the name of the party of his choice shall also be counted as a mark for each Presidential elector nominated by such party

He may vote according to the above provision for the candidate of his choice for each office to be filled according to the number of persons to be voted for by him for each office or he may insert in the blank space provided therefor in accordance with section fourteen of this act any name not already on the ballot And in case of a question submitted to the vote of the people he may mark in the appropriate margin or space a cross (X) opposite the answer which he desires to give In all cases where by existing laws a voter is entitled to cast more than one vote for a single candidate he shall place in the appropriate square instead of a cross (X) a number which shall indicate the number of votes to be counted for the candidate whose name is so marked

Before leaving the voting shelf or compartment the voter shall fold his ballot without displaying the markings thereon in the same way it was folded when received by him and he shall keep the same so folded and deposit it in the ballot box without undue delay and shall quit the enclosed space immediately thereafter" be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows

Section 22 On receipt of his ballot the voter shall forthwith and without leaving the space enclosed by the guard-rail retire to one of the voting shelves or compartments and draw a curtain or shut the screen or door and shall then prepare his ballot as follows

If he desires to vote for every candidate of a political party he may make a cross-mark in the appropriate square opposite the name of the party of his choice in the straight party column on the left of the ballot and every such cross-mark shall be equivalent to a vote for every candidate for the party so marked Provided That the voter may make a cross-mark in the appropriate square opposite the name of the party of his choice in the straight party column on the left of the ballot and may also make a cross-mark in the square to the right of any individual candidate whom he favors In such case his vote shall be counted for all the candidates of the party in whose straight party column on the left of the ballot he placed such cross-mark except for those offices for which he has indicated his choice by marking in the squares to the right of individual candidates and his vote shall be counted for such individual candidates which he has thus particularly marked notwithstanding the fact that he made a mark in the straight party column on the left of the ballot Provided further That in any case where more than one candidate is to be elected to any office the voter shall if he desires to divide his vote among candidates of different parties make a cross (X) mark in the appropriate square to the right of each candidate for whom he desires to vote not exceeding the total number to be elected for such office and no vote shall be counted for any candidate in such group not individually marked notwithstanding the mark in the party square

If he desires to vote for an entire group of Presidential electors he may place a cross-mark in the appropriate square at the right of the name of the party of his choice If he desires to divide his vote among candidates from different groups of Presidential electors he shall make a cross-mark in the appropriate square to the right of the name of each candidate for Presidential elector for whom he desires to vote Provided That a mark in the straight party column opposite the name of the party of his choice shall also be counted as a mark for each Presidential elector nominated by such party

He may vote according to the above provisions for the candidate of his choice for each office to be filled according to the number of persons to be voted for by him for each office or he may insert in the blank space provided therefor in accordance with section fourteen of this act any name not already on the ballot And in case of a question submitted to the vote of the people he may mark in the appropriate margin or space a cross (X) opposite the answer which he desires to give In all cases where by existing laws a voter is entitled to cast more than one vote for a single candidate he shall place in the appropriate square instead of a cross (X) a number which shall indicate the number of votes to be counted for the candidate whose name is so marked

Before leaving the voting shelf or compartment the voter shall fold his ballot without displaying the markings thereon in the same way it was folded when received by him and he shall keep the same so folded and deposit it in the ballot box without undue delay and shall quit the enclosed space immediately thereafter

Section 2 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, this is a bill providing for a new method of voting for candidates. It is an important bill. I consider a bill that has to do with the elections as important a bill as can come before the House. You all know, you have been in the booths and have assisted and seen others voting. You know how confusing the present Baker Ballot Law is. On the other hand, here is added another confusion. In the first place, it goes to show that the gentleman who prepared this bill did not have a proper conception or had not the experience in elections—

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. BRADY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1687 (Senate Bill No. 893), as follows:

An Act fixing the salary and compensation of the sheriff in certain counties

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in all of the counties of this Commonwealth containing more than thirty thousand and less than sixty-five thousand inhabitants the persons hereafter elected or appointed to the office of sheriff in the said several counties shall be paid for their services by fixed and specific salaries which shall be in lieu of fees now allowed to such officers by law Provided that this act shall not affect fees now allowed for mileage nor alter or change provisions of law relating to allowance for boarding prisoners care and maintenance of jail and sheriff's residence and office

Section 2 All salaries fixed by this act shall be paid from the proper county treasury upon warrants of the respective county commissioners and shall be paid on the first secular day of the month succeeding that in which such services were rendered

Section 3 The annual salary of the sheriff of each of the said several counties shall be two thousand five hundred dollars and additional compensation of one hundred dollars per month shall be allowed by the county for the payment of the deputy to the sheriff

Section 4 All fees now allowed by law to be received by the said sheriffs except as provided in section one hereof shall be collected by them and paid into the several county treasuries for the use of the respective counties

Section 5 All acts or parts of acts general local and special inconsistent with this act be and the same are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1919 — 123rd of the General Assembly

Vol. 5. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, JUNE 23, 1919. No. 68.

SENATE.

MONDAY, June 23, 1919.

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward E. Beidleman) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas W. Davis, offered the following prayer:

Almightly God, we thank Thee for the natural laws of life. Under these regulations an equal chance is given to all men. Almighty God, we thank Thee for the natural laws of life. An equal chance is given by their regulation to all men. Under their direction we are convinced that "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." May it be the great objective of this Senate to enact such human made laws as will conside and harmonize with the impartial laws of Nature and of divine Revelation. May the sacred and inalienable rights of our people be safe-guarded and defended to the limit of our opportunity and power. May it become a fixed law of all our lives "To do unto others as we would have others do unto us." These favors we ask in our Saviour's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. CROW, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objections? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 1102 (House Bill No. 1390), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to regulate and establish the fees to be charged by justices of the peace aldermen and magistrates in this Commonwealth is on the calendar owing to a misunderstanding of the action taken by the committee. I, therefore, move that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. PHIPPS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL NO. 703.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 923 (House Bill No. 703), entitled:

An Act to further amend section one thousand two hundred ten and to repeal sections one thousand two hundred eleven, one thousand two hundred thirteen and two thousand eight hundred five of an act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine), entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that or may be inconsistent therewith," and making an appropriation passed third reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. GRAY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. GRAY. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which the amendments to the bill were agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. GRAY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. GRAY. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, the shape in which this bill is at the present time it is absolutely an injustice to the rural districts and will not be agreed to by the House. The amendments that I offer were agreed to by Mr. Woodruff, the author of the bill, and were introduced by me at his request. The amendments will only clarify the bill in this respect, and also the bill as it reads at the present time it is a question, as propounded by the Attorney General, whether the bill would not mean that the Commonwealth would only contribute fifty per cent .of the increase in the salaries provided for in the bill to the school districts of the first class. The amendments which I introduced will clarify that part of the bill and will make the bill mean that the Commonwealth will contribute fifty per cent. of the increases in the teachers' salaries in all districts in the Commonwealth. I am advised that the bill, if it passes as now printed, would mean that certain rural school districts would only get from the Commonwealth a contribution of five dollars per school month toward the increase. Under the law as it is today they get ten dollars per month. Under the Act of 1906, the Commonwealth is refunding to the rural districts, or to the school districts of the state, a sum a little in excess of two million dollars, and under this bill as it stands now with these increases the contribution of the Commonwealth to the districts of the state would only be a little in excess of three million dollars. Before the Act of 1906 was passed, under the minimum salary bill there were many rural school districts that were absolutely unable to meet the increases, and while we have a minimum salary bill upon the statute books there was no money here to pay the salaries. This bill as it is before the Senate today was gotten up by the school teachers, the Commonwealth took care of itself, but there was nobody here to take care of the rural school districts, or the taxpayers, and if the bill as it stands today passes you will compel and force a situation in the rural districts that they will have to pay the salaries and they will not have the means to do it, because they cannot raise the sufficient moneys to do it with the maximum millage tax that under the law they can levy, and unless the Commonwealth is willing to give these districts the money which it will compel them to pay the Act becomes a farce and nulity upon the statute books. Mr. President, the amendments which I have offered were gone over today by the Attorney General, they were handed to me by Mr. Woodruff, the author of the bill, and we believe they are the only thing that will make the act workable and an instrument that can be enforced in the rural districts of this Commonwealth. As the bill stands now, much as I desire to help the school teachers of this Commonwealth, I cannot vote for it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments.

A division having been called for the yeas were 19 and the nays 12, whereupon the question was decided in the affirmative.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1202 (House Bill No. 1525), entitled:

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Crow.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Crow, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, will the Senator from Fayette please explain the purport of this bill, what changes it will make in the present law in that district?

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I am advised it provides for the election of the directors of the poor by the people instead of being appointed by the court.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, I am informed that the purport of this bill is just what the Senator from Fayette has said it is, to change the manner of securing directors of the poor in the middle coalfields. Some years ago there was an act passed by this legislature, at the solicitation of certain persons, whereby the directors of the poor in this district were appointed by the court and the power to elect them was taken away from the people. This was done because the court at that time was of the majority political faith in this state. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, since that time the judge of that district has been elected from the minority party and now the same forces have come into this Senate and this legislature and ask you men to undo that which was done several years ago. In other words, they want this Senate of the legislature of Pennsylvania to play hot and cold with that district. There are five members on the poor board, three of whom are Democrats and two are Republicans. At present the secretary of the board is a Democrat and all the employes under that board are Republicans, showing you that it is not strictly a partisan board, that the Judge of that district has not been unreasonable in his appointments, that he has exercised fairness, and the board, while constituted of three Democrats and two Republicans, has appointed a great majority of employes from the majority party in this state. Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Senate, they now come to you and want you to repeal the law which they placed on the statute books, because it is not according to their liking; they are asking you to enact a ripper bill, while not affecting the greater portion of this state, nevertheless in that district where this law is effective, in order that the same parties might be cared for, they now want to rip them out of office. You men, or your predecessors in office, placed the present act upon the legislative records of Pennsylvania. That act has not proven unsuccessful and there is no one here to say that it was not wanted by the people of that district, but just because a Democratic Judge has been elected in that district, and it is within his power to appont the board, the people who want to control and run things with an iron hand in that district, who run the district regardless of the will of the people, who have heretofore elected the presiding officer of the court, come into this legislature with one of the smallest piece of legislation that has ever been hoisted upon the people in that district. You men of the majority party have the power to pass this bill, but in a spirit of fairness and fair play, being white men to white men, I ask you to say that you will play a different game with the people in that district and say to them that you are not here to practice merely petty politics, to play hot and cold just as it suits perhaps some person in that district, but that you will vote down this bill until some one from that district will tell you that the court has abused the power that this legislature has placed on its statute books. I say that you vote down this bill, not in the spirit of partisanship, but in the spirit of the best type of manhood; do not make this legislature a political body to be a ripper for all good bills, but let it rip out bad legislation and let good legislation stand upon the statute books of this State. There has not been one word raised against this law. It has been successful, it is satisfactory and I ask you, gentlemen of the Senate, to vote down this bill.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Perry, Mr. Leiby?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Perry, Mr. Leiby, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Perry, Mr. Leiby, whether it is not a fact that a similar bill was introduced by Senator Warner, a Democrat in this district, which was passed by this legislature either in the session of 1915 or 1917, which was declared unconstitutional.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, I do not know.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, it is a fact that a bill of this import was introduced in this Senate, by Senator Warner, the predecessor of Senator Barnes of this district, which was passed by this legislature and declared to be unconstitutional, and this bill, as I am informed, is to take the place of that bill and which had been passed by us Republicans at the request of the Democratic Senator from that district.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, I want to say that that answers none of the arguments that I have advanced why this bill should be defeated, why we should vote against it at this time. Whether or not Senator Warner presented such a bill I do not know, but if he was wrong, if it should not have been presented at that time, it surely should not be passed at this time, if the present act on the statute books is satisfactory and is not being abused.

Mr SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I want to say further that that bill was passed during the term of Judge Barber, who is now on the bench in Carbon County and who was elected in 1913, and that there has been no change of Judges in that district since this legislation is pending.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Perry, Mr. Leiby?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Perry, Mr. Leiby, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I desire to ask the Senator from Perry whether it is a fact that the Directors of the Poor in this district are at present appointed by the President Judge of the Court.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, they are.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, does this bill provide for their election by the people?

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, it does, one at large and one in each of four districts being five.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I would like to ask further if it is not good democratic doctrine, always sponsored by the minority party of this State, to elect the officers by the people rather than have them appointed by some other power?

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, it is, but this is a bill placed on the statute books, the present law, that is sought to be repealed, by a Republican Senate, it is Republican doctrine, and I am asking them to take their own medicine.

Mr. BARNES. Mr. President, as this bill affects a part of my district and while I do not know much about the merits of the bill, I have never heard the question of partisanship injected into it before. I am reliably informed that a majority of the people want this law passed and I see no objection to complying with their wishes. I do not think any partisanship has entered into it at all, as far as I am informed. I hardly think there is anything of a partisan nature in the purport of the bill at all, I think it is a bill offered honestly to relieve conditions there.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Wayne, Mr. Barnes?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Wayne, Mr. Barnes, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BARNES. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, I desire to ask the Senator from Wayne, whether there is any criticism about the manner in which the present Board conducts its business in that district?

Mr. BARNES. Mr. President, I have not heard of any.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, it is entirely satisfactory.

Mr. BARNES. Mr. President, it has been thus far.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, they have not abused the power placed in the court by the Act of 1891.

Mr. BARNES. Mr. President, I can only answer that question insofar as I have heard nothing myself.

Mr. LEIBY. Mr. President, it is entirely satisfactory to the people in that district so far as the Senator knows. I further want to say, in answer to the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, that this bill seeks to repeal the Act of 1901, and the Judge he says was elected in 1903.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, June 23, 1919.

The House met at 9.00 o'clock P. M.
The SPEAKER. (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Thou God of peace, we come before Thee thankful that the peace between the warring nations of the earth has been signed. Grant that the words of the immortal Lincoln may ever be before us and may we honestly be able to say "with malice toward none and charity for all." With trepidation and fearfulness have we looked forward to this day and, alas, even Scapa Flow yesterday gave us more cause to fear. But we pray Thee that Thou wilt make us brave and make us at all times true; and whatever else may happen, may it not be our fault if the pact be broken. Make us just and honorable, and true and noble; and grant unto us that we may be forgiving and forbearing. May the spirit of reconciliation ever be uppermost in our minds. May we be ready to yield everything except honor and justice and truth. May we be able at all times to come before Thee with clean hands and open minds, amenable to reason and ready to deal charitably. And O, may we be able at all times to come before Thy judgment throne and have an honest and true cause to defend. May that peace never be broken again; but if it shall be and must be that it shall be broken, grant unto us that our course may be free from blame and that we may strike with the force of a thunderbolt in the hour when the covenant has been violated. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read the Journal of the proceedings of Thursday, June 19, 1919.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the proceedings of Thursday, June 19, 1919, when, on motion of Mr. TRACH, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON SENATE BILL NO. 844.

Mr. GLASS asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer the following motion:

Moved by Mr. GLASS, seconded by Mr. RICHARD CURRY, that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 844 (House Bill No. 1686), file folio 5141, on page 24 of the calendar of Wednesday, June 18, 1919, entitled "An Act prohibiting children between eight and fourteen years of age unaccompanied by their parents or other responsible adult from attending without permits moving picture theaters during certain hours and providing penalties," was defeated on final passage on Wednesday, June 18, 1919, be reconsidered.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, in reference to this bill, which was defeated last Wednesday, I wish to say that it pertains to children between the ages of eight and fourteen not having permits entering moving picture houses during school hours. The teachers throughout the State are complaining that they cannot compete with the moving picture houses that permit children to enter those places during school hours, and on that account they are asking us to pass this bill. The motion picture people are also in favor of the passage of this bill. There was some misunderstanding when the bill was defeated last week, and I think the bill ought to be passed.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I believe that when this bill was defeated last Wednesday there was some misunderstanding in reference to its provisions. The bill provides that children under certain ages shall not attend moving picture theaters without their parents or guardians during school hours. When the bill was considered last Wednesday and defeated I believe the House did not understand its provisions. Gentlemen, this is an anti-truancy bill, a bill against truancy, and it provides that if children go to moving pictures during school hours they shall be stopped. Now I have received from the sponsor of the bill in the Senate a number of telegrams asking for the reconsideration of this meritorious bill. One is signed by the superintendent of schools, John P. Garber; another is signed by S. D. Benoliel, president of the Home and School League of Philadelphia; another is signed by the Civic Club of Philadelphia; another is signed by the White-Williams Foundation for Girls; another is signed by William P. McNally, assistant superintendent, Parish Schools, Nineteenth and Wood Streets. I have also a letter from Henry J. Gideon, chief of the Bureau of Compulsory Education of Philadelphia, and one from Maurice J. Speiser, attorney and counsellor at law. I have letters from the moving picture interests, all O. K.—ing this piece of legislation as a meritorious bill. I think if we consider it from the standpoint of those who wish to do good for the children, we will pass the bill; and I therefore request its support.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the "ayes" appear to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, and 109 gentlemen voting in the affirmative, the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 796 FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. STARK offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 796, file folio 7499, entitled "An Act for the better protection of the skunk or pole cat, and muskrat; providing a method for the taking of such animals and providing penalties," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 1095 FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. HESS offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 1095 be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON SENATE BILL NO. 535.

Mr. MALLERY asked and obtained unanimous consent ot offer the following motion:

Moved by Mr. MALLERY, seconded by Mr. WOOD, that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 535 (House Bill No. 1655), on page 19 of last Wednesday's calendar, was defeated on final passage on Wednesday, June 18, 1919, be reconsidered.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the title of the bill.

The Clerk read the title as follows:

A supplement to an act entitled "An Act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations" approved the twenty-ninth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four providing for the incorporation and regulation of telephone companies defining the rights powers and privileges of such corporations authorizing and regulating the purchase acquisition and leasing the whole or any part of the properties systems capital stock and securities of other corporations associations and persons engaged in the telephone business and authorizing existing telegraph corporations to accept the provisions of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. Speaker, this bill is one which we know as the telephone bill. It was defeated on final passage on the eighteenth of this month, but it is one of those bills which, through an error of the printer, has been subjected to unfair treatment. If you will look at your calendar, on page 19, of June eighteenth, you will find in considering this bill we were referred to file folio 1073. This gave you the bill, not in the form in which it was passed by the House, but in the unamended form of the bill. By referring to page 2141 of your Senate folio, you will find it there in the form in which it was intended to be considered. I ask, therefore, in the spirit of fair play to the bill and to the sponsor of the bill, that you give your support in favor of the reconsideration of this bill. You may recall that I was one of the persons who opposed it, for the reason that it did not make, as I considered it, a fair proposition or offer fair treatment for the people in the rural districts, but when we turn to the bill in the amended form, that objection is taken care of. I, therefore, have no objection to the bill and I ask you to join with me in giving it a fair chance before this House.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Venango.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Venango (Mr. Mallery) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Venango, if the amended form of the bill prevents the consolidation of telephone companies?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. Speaker, it does not, as I understand it.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman if it permits the various telephone companies to consolidate so that they have the power, with the consent of the Public Service Commission, to fix such rates as the consolidate companies would desire to establish?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. Speaker, it permits them to fix a rate that is satisfactory.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, in other words, if we voted for the bill, as the gentleman now advocates it, you would allow the removal of competition between telephone companies?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. Speaker, that is not the objection. It does.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, it does away with the Supreme Court decision which prevents such consolidation and such stifling of competition. This bill is for the purpose of doing away with the Supreme Court decision?

Mr. MALLERY. I don't know anything about that, as to the court decision.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: In order that we may understand this measure, I wish to say that this is a bill that is introduced for the purpose of preventing competition between telephone companies. Now, as the Speaker and the members of this House well know, the telegraph companies cannot consolidate so as to prevent stifling of competition, and the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has held that telephone companies are held by the same ruling, and the telephone companies cannot consolidate. This act of Assembly is for the purpose of doing away with that Supreme Court decision so that there can be consolidation and so that there can be stifling of competition. Mr. Speaker, telephones are important to us who live in the large cities, as well as those of us who live on the farms. The farmer must have his telephone to-day the same as the business man in the city of Philadelphia. You men who live upon the farm, the same as I do a good portion of my time, know what character of treatment we get now, and what kind of treatment are we going to get when the big companies eat up the little ones? We would not have any living; we will not only have bad manners on the part of the operators, but we will have to pay big rates and not get fair treatment. This bill should not have the support of the members of this House and it should be voted down on this motion to reconsider.

Mr. HESS. The speaker who has preceded me says that if this bill became a law it would have the effect of stifling competition. It would do nothing of the kind. If this bill becomes a law, there is nothing to prevent the organization of a new telephone company in any locality at any time when it is necessary to have competition in order to get just rates and fair charges. The only thing that this bill does is to permit any localities where two lines are in operation, either one or the other, to sell out to a competing company, and then it is done under the supervision of and with the consent of the Public Service Commission. In other words, we have been living through a period of ruinous competition. We hear a great deal these days about regulated monopoly, and when it becomes a question of whether it should be ruinous competition or regulated monopoly, I take it that we have reached the point where we see some good in regulated companies. In the last four years we have seen a lot of it, and every one can remember an object lesson of regulating monopoly. There is nothing to compel a company to sell a line; it is only when they wish to sell a line to a company and that will come under the supervision of the Public Service Commission, and under the approval of the Public Service Commission as to the rate that they can charge. What is the condition to-day? In almost every corner of this Commonwealth, if you want to have a telephone connection with your customers or with your patrons, in almost every instance it is necessary for you to have two telephone systems or two lines of telephones, and there is no good accomplished by that. The average man in his residence has to have two lines to-day if he wants to be connected with all his patrons or all his friends. I, for one, would rather pay a slightly higher rental to one company and have universal service with one line, than to pay two bills—two telephone line bills, each month and have a divided service. We must have confidence in some one and at no time, as we know, can consolidation interfere with our securing good service as the rates are increased only by permission of the Public Service Commission. Why have the commission if we do not have any confidence in it? This is a meritorious bill and I trust that the members of this House will vote for this measure.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman from Lancaster that if a large company charges unfair rates, that a small company can start. I don't know anything in law to stop companies from starting, but what I do complain of is to have a big company buy a little company to sell out to a big company, it did strike me whether selling out the little company to the big company was not selling out the people to the big company. The gentleman spoke of this being a meritorious piece of legislation and of it not being legislation for the purpose of preventing any competition between the companies. I call the attention of the gentleman from Lancaster to the little water companies established throughout the State. What is the result when they consolidate in one big company? Do you have competing service and do you have the small rates or do you have the big water rates? You have the big, and why? Because you have no small company to pull down the rate of the large company. Mr. Speaker, this is a corporate snake that is sent into this House with a lobby that is the strongest that has come to this House in Harrisburg during this session and they are here to force this bill through.

They are here to compel the people to pay their large rates to develop their dividends. This is no piece of legislation that is offered for the benefit of the people. You never heard their tread in the Senate or in the House until the bill was defeated, and then they had to come to the surface; then they had to bring their big guns to bear; then they had to work to put this bill over; then they had to bring the corporate wire out and start the work for Monday night. Mr. Speaker, this bill is not a bill that should have the sanction of this House. I do not know what was the purpose of the gentleman from Venango (Mr. Mallery) or his objection to the bill, but when he tells me that there can still be a consolidation with the various companies, I know that whatever objection he did have, it was not the objection that was the heart of this bill. This bill is for the purpose of raising rates for the corporate owners of these telephone companies. It is not for the benefit of the user of the phone; it is not for the benefit of the subscriber; it is not for the purpose of cutting down rates. It is for the purpose of doing what the gentleman from Lancaster (Mr. Hess) says—stop what he calls "honest competition," but what I call "paying dividends on watered stocks," and that is something, Mr. Speaker, that this Legislature should never sanction. They water their stock; they give us no value, and then they come to Harrisburg and ask you and me to vote them their dividends on their wealth that does not exist. This is not a meritorious piece of legislation. Before this bill is reconsidered let us understand what it is. This reconsideration should be voted down, gentlemen.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, in order to attack the particular kind of reptile that the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Scott) says is secreted and resting composedly in this bill, it is necessary to have an acquaintance with the particular kind of reptile, and I will confess that my acquaintance with that particular kind of a reptile is not very extensive. But he places the issue before you in error when he says that the purpose of this bill and the object that would be accomplished by the passage and enactment of this bill into law would be that the large corporations would swallow up all the smaller corporations. It very frequently occurs that the large corporation in a particular district has a very small business, whereas an independent company, a very much smaller corporation, in that particular district has a very much larger business. In instances of that kind, if the consent of the Public Service Commission could be secured, the small corporation would buy the property of the large corporation. In some other sections the other might be true. But in either case, the raising of rates cannot be accomplished unless it is O.K.'d by the Public Service Commission, and the question is whether or not we have confidence in that commission. If we do have, we surely ought to realize that the rates cannot be raised to a point where they are unreasonable and unjust, and I believe that all of you will agree with me that the rates would not be raised so high as to be equal to the payment of two rates that in almost all sections of the State we are paying to-day if we want to have full service, if we want to be connected by telephone with the bulk of the patrons and the majority of our friends. The question resolves itself entirely as to whether or not we have confidence in the judgment, in the fairness of our Public Service Commission, because no advantage of the people can be taken unless that commission become a party to it.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, when my friend from Lancaster (Mr. Hess) is driven to the extreme of basing his advocacy of his bill on the fairness of the Public Service Utilities Commission, he is begging the question. We, as a legislative body, are to say whether or not we give sanction to this character of legislation. He speaks about the bill being O.K.'d by the Public Service Utilities Commission. Mr. Speaker, it is not out of the memory of men when some of the Public Service Commissioners have themselves been O.K.'d, and sometimes I fear that possibly the same influence that has O.K.'d this bill, in the past has O.K.'d some of the Public Service Utility Commissioners. And, Mr. Speaker, it would be safer for those of us who have to return back to our people at the next election, if we want to come here, to stand on our own feet and not attempt to hide behind the Public Service Utilities Commission. Too many rates have been passed and increased in the last two years, and we hope this present new Public Service Utilities Commission will be a little more careful in raising rates, and this is one particular rate we should keep home.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: Of course, we will have to go back and face our constituents on the vote we cast on this bill. But you gentlemen realize that there are about two hundred and fifty independent corporations that are operating telephone lines in the State of Pennsylvania. You men realize that a very great many of those corporations are on the verge of bankruptcy, and, unless they have some relief, the money that has been honestly invested in these corporations will be lost. Why is this true? Because in many locations one-half of the business, with the increased cost of operating any corporation's business, is not sufficient to make that corporation a successful corporation. If, under the guidance and by the consent of the Public Service Commission, those several companies in these outlying districts are permitted to buy out the other and consolidate, there is ample business to there operate one successful proposition.

Insofar as the gentleman refers to any wrongs that may have been done or permitted to be done by the Public Service Commission, I leave that to your own judgment, gentlemen. Everyone of you know just what the attitude of the Public Service Commission has been with reference to these corporations, and everyone of you know to what extent they have been permitted to extort unjust fees from the public. I leave that entirely to your own judgment. I feel safe, and I believe that you can feel safe in leaving that matter just where it should be left, and where it properly belongs, in the hands of the commission that has been charged with that duty from time to time and that must answer to the people just as you and I must answer to the people for the vote we cast on this resolution, and I trust that you will vote this resolution through.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

The SPEAKER declared the "ayes" appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division having been called for, and 124 gentlemen having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the resolution was adopted.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. WELLS. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The SPEAKER. The roll will be verified.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 1175.

Mr. FINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 1175, file folio 5851, entitled

An Act defining sedition and prescribing the punishment therefor was defeated on final passage Wednesday, June eighteenth, be reconsidered.

Mr. BIGLER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, this takes me back to a fight I once witnessed in the State of Montana. There was a fight between an Irishman and an Englishman, and there was a cousin Jock outside of the crowd and he could not see the fight. The men clashed and he said, "Who is down now, boys?" They said, "The Englishman is down now." He says, "Let him up, let us have a square deal," and they let him up; they clashed again, and he says, "Who is down now?" They said, "The Englishman is down again." "Let him up, boys, why don't you give the fellow a square deal?" The next time they clashed he said, "Who is down now?" They said, "Murphy is down now," and he says, "Soak it to him, now is the time to get him." You have been down so often in this House and I have never seen you satisfied with a licking yet. You are always hollowing for a square deal. Will you be so kind—that is, the interests that are working for this bill, will you please leave the members alone for a few minutes and quit your lobbying inside the rail and perhaps you will bring bring about the defeat of this bill, and won't have a chance to hollow to get up again. It has been circulated through this House and men have come to me and they have said, "Oh, Fowler, I would like to go along with you, but there is an awful pressure broguht to bear." My friends, do not blame the Governor; do not saddle the blame on the Governor of this State, because you haven't the courage of your own convictions. I do not believe that Governor Sproul has taken any of those individuals and put any pressure to bear on them. We only have to look to the past week to see the strong lobby that has been used in the interests of this bill, and every man can see for himself where the pressure is coming from. Let me say to you that if you men have not the courage of your convictions, without saddling the blame of this on the Governor, then let me say to you that you ought to go home and be honest with your constituents and tell them to send a postal card down next session instead of you, because a postal card is just as good as any man that is afraid of his own convictions. I have all the respect in the world for Governor Sproul, because I believe the Governor, from his experience in the Legislature, has the courage of his own convictions, and is always big enough and man enough to fight his battles out on the floor and on the level. I want you men not to be influenced by the paid lobbyists in the back of this hall. If you find back of that rail lobbyists representing labor, they are coming here because they feel that they want legislation in their favor or that they are lobbying against something detrimental to organized labor. When the paid lobbyists that are back of this rail fighting for this Sedition Bill tell you that it is not aimed at labor, then I tell you, my friends, these lobbyists are working for this Sedition Bill because they know it is the best weapon against labor that they will ever have in their hands. They tell you that they are not interested. Then you want to shoulder the blame all over to the poor Governor. You say, "He will veto my bills, I am afraid of that." Why, I dare say, and I challenge any man that puts up that argument, to go with me to the Governor, and I tell you that he will not tell you that. If you are going to fight on this bill, fight on the level, boys. Then they say that they are after the radical, and that this bill is a proper bill to get him. Let me say to you that the American Federation of Labor, during the time of this war with Germany, did more to bring about the end of that war than the lobbyists who stand in the back of the hall. If the American Federation of Labor did not have such leaders as Gompers, and the others that are leading the American Federation of Labor, if they had not taken the stand against the Bolshevists, both corporations and others, in this State and country, would have found that the war would not have been over yet. I say to you that the wage-earners have been patriotic, and they have been given credit for increasing the production during the war, and because of that you want to pass a Sedition Bill that is going to crucify the labor movement entirely in this country. Let us see what the newspapers say. The newspapers are against you. Let us go for a little trip to McKeesport, if you please, and there we find the real Bolshevist in his true colors and there you can find what the program is, laid out now, to defeat labor.

The mayor has ordered the police to prevent open-air union labor meetings, and has instructed owners of halls to refuse to rent them to such persons. My friends, why, why was Article I, Section 7, placed in the Constitution of Pennsylvania? You don't say anything about a man like that who deprives all American citizens of free speech. Let us see what Section 7, of Article I of the State Constitution says. You say we have no law. "The printing press shall be free to every person who may undertake to examine the proceedings of the Legislature or any branch of government, and no law shall ever be made to restrain the right thereof. The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the invaluable rights of man, and every citizen may freely speak, write and print on any subject, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty." Now, then, my friends, when that was placed in the Constitution it was placed there by true, red-blooded Americans, to take care of times like this. That is why it was put in, and when you read that you can readily see that it was made in the State of Pennsylvania and put there by real Americans; and when you read this Sedition Bill it is doubtful whether it was ever made in America. My friends, I want to say to you, as I said here the last time this bill was before you, let us work to put confidence in the hearts and minds of our working people, without trying to break them down. I want to say to you that if the lobbyists that lobby in here would take as much interest in the welfare of the girls and women who work in the sweatshops of the big cities, and work for starvation wages, they would be in a position then, my friends, to ask you to do something that would be a credit to you. Let me say to you that organized labor has to battle for itself under the present law. I can go back to the days when you passed an eight-hour law, in 1867 or 1868, I don't know which year; I remember the time that the law was passed in the State, and the other fellow did not live up to it, and the minors in this State were compelled to go on strike, and the State of Pennsylvania refused to make the coal operators of Pennsylvania live up to it. It is things like that that create Bolshevism. Now, my friends, I want to say to you, let's give to the workingmen this bill; let's establish confidence in their hearts. My friends, if this bill has lost its teeth, there are sufficient laws on the statute books now to take care of the fellow that is not really American. I want to say to you, and I say this honestly, that if the Governor of this State knows of any Bolshevikis he can depend on organized labor in this State to be fighting with him in arm to bring about the defeat of such a class of people in this State. But you have got to place confidence in the labor organizations, and you have got to give us a chance to fight and be law-abiding citizens. Do not discourage our people. I ask you tonight, my friends, not to vote for this vill. It ought to be defeated by an overwhelming majority. I thank you.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and gentleme nof the House: As I rise to my feet to speak in favor of this bill, I do so with the understanding that I am speaking on one of the most important bills that has been before this House, I say that for two reasons. The one is because it has been misconstrued by labor; and secondly, because I believe it is important for the peace and good order of the Commonwealth at this time. In my practice, which takes me largely in the criminal courts, I defend a number of people at each term of court. When a bill of this kind comes before me, I scrutinize it to see if it contains anything that could be taken unduly against the defendants in any of these cases. There is nothing in this bill that labor need be afaid of; absolutely nothing. I agreed with my frined from Lackawanna (Mr. Fowler), and I believe that there is no set of people who will go further in defending this country; neither is there any set of people who have gone further in defending this country than the laboring people, and I believe further that the labor people of this country are heart and soul for anything that will put down Bolshivism, that will put down anarchy, or that will put down the enemy of the country. He speaks about breeding Bolshevikis. They are not bred in this country; they are bred across the water, where they know no better, and come over here and endeavor to interfer with this govrnment, and sirs, it is important to labor at this time to give to labor as well as to capital such a bill as this, for their protection as much as for the protection of capital. Now let us see what is bad about this bill. Let us see. It says: "That the word 'sedition' as used in this act shall mean: Any writing, publication, printing, cuts, cartoon, utterance or conduct ,either individually or in connection or combination with any other person or persons which tends (a) To make or cause to make any outbreak or demonstration of violence against this State or against the United States." Is that right? Is it right to make or cause to be made any outbreak or demonstration of violence against this State or the United States? Second, "To encourage any person or persons to take any measure or engage in any conduct with a view of overthrowing or destroying, or attempting to overthrow or destroy, by any force or show of threat of force the government of this State or of the United States." Is that right? Is it proper to encourage any person or persons to overthrow or destroy by any force or show or threat of force the government of this State of of the United States?

The third reads, "To incite or encourage any person or persons to commit any overt act with a view to bringing the government of this State or of the United States into hatred or contempt." Is it right? I ask anybody, is it right? With a view of bringing the government or the State "into hatred or contempt," is it right "to incite any person or persons to do or attempt to do personal injury or harm to any officer of this State or of the United States, or to damage or destroy any public property." Is that right? Is it right that anybody should do anything tending in that direction? On line 19, page 2, the bill reads, "The actual damage to or destruction of any public property or the property of any public official perpetrated because the owner or occupant is in official position." Nobody in this House would say that any of these things are right or proper or that any law-abiding citizen in this Commonwealth would do any of these things. Therefore, is it right that all these things could be or should be prohibited? Again, on line 19, "Any writing, publication, printing, cut, cartoon or utterance which advocates or teaches the duty, necessity, or propriety of engaging in crime, violence or any form of terrorism as a means of accomplishing political reform or change in government." Gentlemen, don't lose sight of the fact contained in the clause, "engaging in crime, violence or any form of terrorism." Is there any man in this House that would say the doing of any of these things is possible. Again, on line 24, "The sale, gift or distribution of any prints, publications, books, papers, documents or written matter in any form which advocates, furthers or teaches sedition as hereinbefore defined." Is it right? Is it right, I say again, for any man in this Commonwealth, any law-abiding citizen to attach any importance to the things that are provided for in this act? On page 28, "Organized or helping to organize, or becoming a member of an assembly, society, or group where any of the policies or purposes thereof are seditious as hereinbefore defined." I say again, is that right, and if these things are right, then I submit to you that it is proper that the best law possible be enforced and that it be stopped. I stand here now defending labor. I say to every man within the hearing of my voice, that there is no laboring man; no real American; no true patriot, that will commit one of the acts that is prohibited in this proposed act—absolutely none. I know of no laboring man today within the labor union, who is a true patriot, that will ever commit one act that is within the pages of this bill. You are imagining things that are not in this bill, and I see nothing of which the laboring man should be afraid. If it was to prevent laboring men from organizing; to prevent laboring men from protecting their rights, or from doing that which is lawful, I would stand here and talk just as hard against it. I represent no corporations; nearly all my clients are laboring men. I belonged, for years, to the laboring class myself and would be the last one to do one act against a laboring man.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander) that there should be laws on the statute books covering the things described in this bill. I insist that there are laws now on the statute books that fully cover all the things described in this bill. I sincerely trust that this debate this evening will be permitted to proceed and that no one will move the previous question until this bill has been thoroughly thrashed out, so that some one may show me and the other members of this House where in any specific particular this bill is needed, and where it will cover a case not already covered by the statutes of this State, or by the federal government. The section which "aims to incite to violence" is an insult to the intelligence of the members of this House. Does any one state ever hesitate about sending troops out to punish violence? What was the excuse for sending out troops in the time of the Homestead riots when they were required for the suppression of mob law, when they responded to the call at a time when there was bloodshed? No one, openly aims to incite to violence or to overthrow the State authorities or the government of the United States. It is a singular fact in every instance, that the word "The United States" is coupled with the word "The State," because it is also a fact that no man can disturb the peace of this State without being a crimminal and with being held in the light of an undesirable citizen, committing a crime against the Constitution of the United States. In Colorado the federal troops are ordered out there to quell a disturbance and the State laws authorize it, the same there as in any other state, and the men who started that trouble out there were deported as undesirables, because Colorado was a part of the United States just the same as the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is a part of the United States. Let no man in this House go forward and disturb this government here in Harrisburg or let no man inflame or incite to riot because if he does he will find out whether or not there is a law on the statute books to take care of the man. I know that if I talk on a certain subject along certain lines and as long as nobody takes me seriously and I am called a crank until I get a following and they call me a dangerous man and I am punished for inciting to riot. We don't want this bill, because there is something back of it all. There is the clause that has reference to "hatred and contempt." What does it mean? It means bringing hatred and contempt into the State of Pennylvania. Let the gentlemen of this House bear that in mind. I have asked lawyers in the State of Pennsylvania since this bill has been introduced in regard to its legal aspects and in order that I might get an intelligent opinion upon it. The object is possibly to voice perhaps a criticism of some court that interpret the meaning of "hatred and contempt." I have been told that so far as that clause is concerned, that can be interpreted in a dozen different ways. Labor is not afraid of this law; there is ample law on the statute books to punish those who aim offense or injury of officials of this State, and everybody knows that that is fully covered. The constitution of the United States is so carefully interwoven with the constitution of this State that you are fully protected. You have your espionage act now, which takes care of you. It is a foolish law. The police constabulary reached out up in Scranton and took up and arrested every one in that portion of the State when they incited to riot or proved themselves to be undesirable characters. I trust that the newspapers of this State will publish the names of the men who vote for and against this bill, that all in this State may know what is going on. Judge Bonniwell has issued a letter to-day to the Democrats of this State asking that they do not support the sedition bill, and I agree with the Judge most heartily. I cannot see how any party can expect to live in Pennsylvania that is behind this measure. There is going to be an unsavory taste in the mouth of labor and it is going to wreck vengence in the future, politically speaking. You can pass this bill if you wish, but remember this, that should you pass it, those of you who do, with the sponsor, must carry the responsibility.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, I have no personal feeling against the men who are opposed to this bill. I believe they are as sincere in their ideas as I am in mine. However, as an individual member of the organization known as the Grange of Pennsylvania, I want to voice my protest and the protest of others regarding the statement that has made that the Grange of Pennsylvania was opposed to the passage of this bill. I understand that a statement was made at a hearing held in this House by a gentleman high up in official life in that organization to the effect that the Grange was opposed to it. Now, in my county there are eleven subordinate branches of that organization. In matters of legislation they have come before me. It has been customary for those organizations to advise me either for or against what has their approval or disapproval in the legislation by means of resolutions acted upon in the customary manner. Up to the present time, insofar as I have been able to reach the members of the organization, they knew nothing about it—nothing until within the last week or ten days what they may have read in the newspapers. They do not understand the bill. They have no comment to make unless a copy is sent to them and, finally, after perusal, in the majority of cases, I find it has met with their entire approval. Now, the agriculturists as a class have been accustomed in times back to do their own thinking. They have been entirely opposed to a condition where a man or any set of men think or dictate policies for them, for they consider they are free thinkers. We see about us today, all over this country, the evidence of the appearance here of this undesirable element that is so rampant on the other side. They hold meetings and incite irresponsibles against our recognized government and then gloat over the results that they may have obtained. I believe the gentleman from Lackawanna (Mr. Fowler) in reading a section of the State Constitution, would up with two or three words which were to the effect that men who incited riot or made inflammable remarks were to be held responsible. I think the fact is that this bill is so drawn as to cover that very provision in that Constitutional amendment. I believe that it is our patriotic duty to our State and our nation for us to perform our duty by providing these very provisions.

Mr. McINTYRE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Fayette (Mr. McIntyre) will proceed.

Mr. McINTYRE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander) why it is necessary to have this bill passed?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, for the simple reason that there is no Act of Assembly at the present time that covers the acts contained in this bill, and makes a punishment sufficient to deter the class of people who are now throwing bombs from doing so.

Mr. McINTYRE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander).

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Fayette will proceed.

Mr. McINTYRE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander) if the passage of this bill would stop the throwing of bombs.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Well, Mr. Speaker, I do not suppose the passage of this bill, perhaps, will altogether stop the throwing of bombs any more than the passage of an act to hang a man will stop a man from committing murder; but it will most likely deter them from doing so and the heavy punishment will have a very good effect upon the men who are doing it.

Mr. McINTYRE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman. He has said that labor has misconstrued the meaning of this bill. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, the amended copy of this bill which is now before us was placed in the American Federation of Labor convention at Atlantic City last week. After the Resolution Committee had considered the bill they brought it before the delegates, representing thousands and thousands of men. One of the best Americans that ever lived, Samuel Gompers, presided over that meeting. They absolutely were opposed to this bill.

The Public Ledger of yesterday carries a front page article on the Sedition bill. It says:

"Labor Federation demands death of Sedition Bill." Further on in part, it says: "Governor Sproul, of Pennsylvania, and certain interests alleged to be behind the so-called Anti-Sedition Bill in the Pennsylvania Legislature were assailed by Samuel Gompers and by the entire membership of the American Federation Convention today. Mr. Gompers accused Governor Sproul of attempting to force the bill through the Legislature. The bill, he said, is aimed at further curbing the rights of the workers and the masses of the people. He said that in spite of the defeat of the measure a short time ago, 'an attempt, under the whip and spur of those in authority,' is to be made to resurrect and pass it on next Monday night. In response to Mr. Gompers request, the convention adopted a resolution condemning the bill and calling upon the Legislature to kill it. It was made clear that Mr. Gompers considers it a child of the steel manufacturers."

Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: This bill has been before the American Federation of Labor, and that is the action that that great body took. I have sat in my seat, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, during this session, and I have heard, time and again, men on this floor say that they favored labor, and they turn around here and vote for this bill. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, after that great body has gone on record against the bill, then this is the time to show your colors. I know, Mr. Speaker, that the orders have gone out for this bill to go through, and where those orders come from. They do not have to go back to tell the laboring men in your district why they voted for this bill. The American Federation of Labor has considered this bill and, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I ask you to vote this motion down.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I wish to say a word briefly in defense of this measure. There has been one criticism offered here tonight directed against the provisions of this bill, which I desire to answer, and that is that there are ample laws now on the statute books to punish the crimes described in this bill. I say to you that not one of those laws has been quoted to you nor reference made in any way that would locate it on the statute books. As a matter of fact, we admit that there are laws to punish the bomb throwers, to punish the man who does an overt act of violence; but, sir, I submit to you that that is not always the man that is most desirable to apprehend.

But it is the man who goes out incites among his fellowmen the spirit which results in these acts of violence—that is the man we are after in the passage of this act. The only charge that can be brought at the present time against anyone uttering seditious remarks against the Governor of the State, or the government of a nation is the charge of disorderly conduct, which is not a serious offense, as provided for in the statutes. Therefore, I say that living under the high stress of reconstruction, which we are at present, when publications, such as I have before me, are being circulated throughout this Commonwealth, this act is necessary. It is necessary if we are to preserve the safety of our institutions, and I believe that every man in this body, who has studied this act, will give it his support.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I want to read one or two short articles from the Constitution of Pennsylvania. Section 2 says: "All power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are on their authority and instituted for their peace, safety and happiness. For the advancement of these ends they have at all times an inalienable and indefeasible right to alter, reform or abolish their government in such manner as they may think proper."

I want to call your attention to section 1, article "F," line 19, page 2 of the present bill, which says: "Any writing, publication, printing, cut, cartoon or utterance which advocates or teaches the duty or necessity or propriety of engaging in crime, violence or any form of terrorism as a means of accomplishing political reform." Gentlemen of the House why it is necessary to put in a Sedition Bill the words "political reform." Isn't it possible that the gentlemen of the House are at a loss to know exactly how to decide this bill or what construction to place upon it, as the vote showed the other day? Isn't it true that the courts of Pennsylvania would put a different construction on these words if the case were taken to them? Isn't it also true that if any utterance were made against the President of the United States, or against the Governor of this Commonwealth, that somebody did not like, they could take you before the court under the charge of sedition, and the courts would sustain that charge according to the wording of that section?

Section seven, which I think is the most important one to each and every member of this House, reads as follows: "The printing press shall be free to every person who may undertake to examine the proceedings of the legislature or any branch of government, and no law shall ever be made to restrain the right thereof. The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the invaluable rights of man, and every citizen may freely speak, write and print on any subject, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty." That is the Constitution of Pennsylvania; therefore, a bill of this character would be entirely unconstitutional where it says, "The actual damage to or destruction of any public property or the property of any public official perpetrated because the owner or occupant is in an official position." Gentlemen of the House, many a time, through some mistake, in a strike, or in some little labor trouble, or some other troubles in the community, there has arisen an occasion where some official—it might have been a policeman, it might have been a magistrate, or someone in authority—was hurt. This same condition will apply today that applied years ago, but under this present bill you have taken it and changed that crime from assault and battery to sedition. Why is it necessary to change the crime of assault and battery to sedition and add such a penalty to it as you have in this bill tonight? The first section is all right, the first two sections. If they had stopped there it would have been all right, but the trouble is that the courts of the State of Pennsylvania and the attorneys as well, each and every one of them, has a mind of his own, and will place a different interpretation upon these words. A simple sedition bill would be all right, but a bill of this kind, which takes in any meeting in a hall, where people congregate in secret, if somebody raises the question, they can be arrested for sedition, and in some cases, according to this bill, can be convicted. I am told, and I think that history will bear me out, that Russia had some of the most stringent laws with reference to sedition of any nation on the face of this earth. Up until one or two years ago, it was a crime for any person in Russia to utter anything against any of the officials of the Russian government, and when this Bolshevism sprung up it came with a rush, because they had been subdued and they worked in secret, yet they had the most stringent laws of any nation in the world, and we all know what happened. Every member of this House who votes for this measure is voting his conviction and his conscience on it. He has been approached by members of the official family at Harrisburg to vote for this bill. I do not know whether he was threatened or not, or what pressure was brought to bear, but there has been heavy pressure in the last two or three days to get the members of this House to vote for this bill, and why? If this is a Republican measure in the State of Pennsylvania, I want to be recorded as voting "no." If it is a constitutional question, I believe that we have before us the proof that it is unconstitutional. If it is a Democratic question, as it would seem to be when we see from what part of the House it came, then I want to be recorded as voting "no," because I want to protect the Democrats. There is no remedy effected in this bill. The original bill appeared to be all right, but when they included every labor organization in the State of Pennsylvania, and every secret organization in the State, when it includes you and me in our just criticism of the government or any of its official cabinet, or a member of the Senate, or just an ordinary member of the Assembly, it is wrong, because I think we have a perfect right to do that. I give my constituents back home the right to criticize me for anything I do, and when we take way that inalienable right, we are treading on sacred ground. If we want to maintain a Democratic form of Government, as we now have, don't let us pass legislation of this kind, but let us vote down this motion.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I have no desire to stop debate on this question, but as this bill must go to the Senate and be considered there tonight. In order that the bill will be there in time to be considered, I move the previous question, and insist upon my motion.

The previous question was moved by twenty members as follows: Messrs. Flynn, Alexander, Brooks, Campbell, Cox, Curran, Dewey, Dithrich, Drinkhouse, Evans, Joseph T., Fox, Ira M. Gans, Graham, Haldeman, Harer, Heferman, Hess, Hoffman, Lafferty and others.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the gentleman from Fayette (Mr. McIntyre) was not on his feet.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Fayette (Mr. McIntyre) was on his feet.

Mr. McINTYRE. Mr. Speaker, I was on my feet.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Fayette (Mr. McIntyre) will explain his reason for rising.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. McINTYRE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. McINTYRE. Mr. Speaker, the gentlemen from Fayette, Mr. Sinclair, Mr. Kooser and Mr. Collier were on their feet. I was in my seat and I think the gentleman from my county will bear my statement out.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Fayette (Mr. McIntyre) will kindly take his seat at the present time.

On the question,

Shall the main question now be put?

The SPEAKER declared the "noes" appear to have it.

Whereupon, a division being called for, the yeas and nays were required by Mr. FLYNN and Mr. FOWLER.

The SPEAKER. The question is shall the main question now be put? Those who vote "aye" vote for the previous question; those who vote "no" vote to continue the debate.

The yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

YEAS—98.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the motion of the gentleman from Crawford (Mr. Finney) to reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 1175 was defeated on final passage.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the "ayes" appear to have it.

Whereupon, a division being called for, the yeas and nays were required by Mr. FLYNN and Mr. FOWLER and were taken.

Mr. McINTYRE. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the role.

The SPEAKER. The roll will be verified.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The Clerk proceeded to call the roll.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. HELT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. There is nothing in order but the calling of the roll.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, the point of order I wish to make is the constitutionality of this bill according to Section 7 of Article 1 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER. The Chair overrules the point of order of gentleman from Clearfield (Mr. Phillips); it comes too late.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I was on my feet when you asked for the roll.

The SPEAKER. There was a motion for the previous question and it was agreed to. There is nothing in order at the present time but the calling of the roll.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman from Northumberland (Mr. Helt) should have the floor now. Let me say I wish to tender my time to the gentleman from Northumberland (Mr. Helt).

The SPEAKER. There is nothing in order but the calling of the roll.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, the point of order I raise is the same which I raised in my previous point of order.

The SPEAKER. The Chair did not recognize the gentleman.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, the Chair did recognize me.

The SPEAKER. The Chair did not recognize the gentleman except when he raised the point of order.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I did not finish my point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, according to the Constitution of Pennsylvania, Section 7 of Article 1, "The printing press shall be free to every person who may undertake to examine the proceedings of the legislature of any branch of government, and no law shall ever be made to restrain the right thereof. The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the invaluable rights of men, and every citizen may freely speak, write and print on any subject, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty." Mr. Speaker, paragraph (f), page 2, of this proposed Act of Assembly I claim is unconstitutional, and I ask that you submit the question to the House as to the constitutionality of this bill for a ruling.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the gentleman's point of order is not well taken.

Mr. HELT. Mr. Speaker, I appeal from the decision of the Chair with reference to the privilege of speaking on this measure.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state that an appeal from the decision of the Chair must be seconded by five members.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, there has been no appeal from the decision of the Chair on the question of the constitutionality of the bill. The gentleman from Northumberland (Mr. Helt) has not appealed from the decision of the Chair. He appealed from the decision of the Chair on the point of order that there was nothing in order but the calling of the roll.

Mr. HELT. Mr. Speaker, I wish to appeal from the decision you just entered, inasmuch as you were closing off debate and ordering a roll call. I appeal from the decision of the Chair in closing this debate.

The SPEAKER. There is nothing in order but the point of order raised by the gentleman from Clearfield (Mr. Phillips). The House will take one thing at a time. The question raised by the gentleman from Clearfield on which he made his point of order was, that it was unconstitutional. The Chair has overruled the point of order of the gentleman from Clearfield (Mr. Phillips). What action does the House desire to take on the motion?

POINT OF ORDER REPEATED.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I repeat my point of order. The Chair has ruled on the point of order raised by the gentleman from Clearfield (Mr. Phillips). The only order before the House now is the call of the roll.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will rule the point of order well taken, and the question now is the roll call. There is nothing in order but the roll call.

APPEAL FROM DECISION OF THE CHAIR.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I appeal from the decision of the Chair on the ruling that the question before the House is the roll call. The question is on the point of order by the gentleman from Clearfield.

Mr. HELT. Mr. Speaker, I second the appeal. I wish to second the appeal from the decision of the Chair with reference to the question brought forth by the gentleman from Clearfield (Mr. Phillips) on the point of order that it was unconstitutional.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state that that question has already been disposed of. There is nothing in order but the roll call.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, the previous question was only raised on the reconsideration of this bill. I think that the bill itself is under consideration at the present time. I think each and every member wants to be heard and should be heard. The question of constitutionality was only raised on the question of the reconsideration of this bill.

The SPEAKER. The only question before the House is the roll call.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. HELT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Northumberland will state his point of order.

Mr. HELT. Mr. Speaker, I wish to speak on three phases of this question—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is out of order.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, if it would be in order—

The SPEAKER. The only question before the House is the roll call. The Clerk will call the roll. The Chair rules that after the previous question was moved that there was nothing in order but the roll call.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York will state his question of information.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, when the appeal from the decision of the Chair was made by the gentleman from Northumberland (Mr. Helt) the Speaker demanded five seconds to the appeal.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state that he did not recognize the gentleman who made the appeal from the decision of the Chair.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, the Chair ruled that the gentleman's appeal from the decision of the Chair required five seconds.

The SPEAKER. When there is an appeal from the decision of the Chair, the appeal must be seconded by five members. That was not done and there was no appeal from the decision of the Chair.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, there were a dozen members on the floor of the House seconding that appeal.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Clearfield (Mr. Phillips) raised a point of order on the constitutionality of the motion to reconsider the bill.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, the Chair gave a decision and there was an appeal from that decision. That appeal was seconded by five members of this House.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. When the appeal from that decision was made, I seconded it, and it was seconded by five members of this House, and as a member of this House I insist upon my right to have that question disposed of here and now.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will not recognize the gentleman from Berks.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, I will renew my point of order—

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I call for the orders of the day.

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, a question of personal privilege is in order at all times, and I just want to say this to the members of the House. This is a very important measure, and we have piling up on the calendar a number of important measures and I am going to ask the men of this House—

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks will take his seat until he is recognized. The gentleman from Delaware will proceed.

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, I am going to ask you to see me through. I am going to ask the members, and I am going to ask the Speaker if these proceedings cannot be returned to an orderly condition, and if this bill cannot be taken up and considered so that we can pass on to a regular roll call and proceed with the business of this House. This is not the way the members of this House want to wind up the session of 1919. I think that we all may be able to return to the question of the original consideration of the bill so that in the course of an hour's time we may go to a roll call and then finish the rest of the business of this session. Let us be men from now on.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the privilege of the floor be granted to the gentleman from Northberland (Mr. Helt) to speak on the bill, and that the Speaker withdraw his decision.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will open the discussion of the original question, and the gentleman from Northumberland will proceed.

The question being,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ADAM C. SCHAEFFER. Mr. Speaker, I move we adjourn.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Northumberland (Mr. Helt) has the floor, and will proceed.

Mr. HELT. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I feel that under these conditions that are now facing us, you have, of course, put my little speech to disadvantage. It was my intention to only very briefly speak on three phases of this pending legislation. These three phases were embodied in remarks by the honorable Attorney General of the State of Pennsylvania. When the Attorney General appeared before the committee which considered this bill at a public hearing in this House he stated, among a great many other things, that labor misapprehended the intent of this legislation, and that there was not on the statute books today proper legislation to handle the conditions that are now confronting the people of Pennsylvania, referring expressly to the conditions of the I. W. W. and the Bolsheviks which were so prevalent in the different parts of these United States of ours. He remarked, among other things, that under the provisions of this measure, men in the employ of the United States government would not be allowed to exercise their full citizenship and privilege to the extent of striking.

Mr. Speaker, may I ask that you request a little order? I will be brief and soon close.

The SPEAKER. The House will be in order. The Chair will request the members to be as quiet as possible, and will enjoin upon the Sergeant-at-Arms the restoration of order in the rear of the hall. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. HELT. Now, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I wish to read to you a few lines of a speech as made by the Honorable William B. Wilson, Secretary of Labor in President Wilson's cabinet, delivered Friday afternoon, June 13th, before the American Federation of Labor at Atlantic City, New Jersey. The question has been raised that the intent of this measure is to suppress bolshevism, and I just wish to read this to you with the intent of conveying to you the Secretary of Labor's reasons for the cause of Bolshevism as found by a commission which went to one of the western States to investigate the cause of the uprising of the I. W. W. and the Bolshevists:

"I recall conditions we met with in the Middle West, when the President's commission on mediation was sent to investigate conditions brought about by the Industrial Workers of the World some two years ago. The Industrial Workers of the World had almost gone out of existence prior to that time. Suddenly there was a renewal of activities. Industries which were essential to the success of the war were being tied up; there seemed to be no way of keeping them in operation, and the President appointed his commission, of which I had the honor of being Chairman. We went out to investigate; we found some oddities,—many crudities—that the average man in the labor movement would not stand for. We found that people were coming in on the roads to the mining camps of the mountain regions of the West, coming in quite large numbers, to establish a local of the Industrial Workers of the World, and then without submitting the question to the voice of the workers themselves, in organization or otherwise, declared strikes against the companies that were operating, declaring those strikes for a given wage, and for a number of hours, refusing to meet the employers in conference and insisting that it must be this rate which they published, and no other, and that idleness itself would follow. But that was not all. We found that wherever the legitimate, evolutionary aspirations of the workers were given an opportunity to develop, there the Industrial Workers of the World found no foothold, that it was only in the places where there was the iron hand of repression on the part of the employers used upon the workers themselves that this particular revolutionary spirit found an expression whatsoever."

Now, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, a commission, as appointed by the President of the United States, investigated the cause of Bolshevism in the United States, and they found that where the citizenship were allowed to exercise to the fullest extent that citizenship, there no Bolshevism existed; and where there were laws enacted or it was taken into the hands of those in authority to suppress the full action of enjoyment of full citizenship by the citizens by the citizens or workers, there Bolshevism existed and grew and multiplied. In McKeesport the mayor, under existing law, prohibited an assembly and free speech of the citizens of that city, and the Attorney General says that there were not sufficient laws on the statute books to-day which would prohibit any such enactment or putting into effect of a law. Now, gentlemen of the House, in Atlantic City there were gathered together the representatives of almost all the countries of the world, and giving expression to the many enjoyed privileges that the people of the United States enjoy. I heard it expressed time and time again that we here in the United States, under the present law, enjoy to the fullest our citizenship rights, and those are free speech and free assembly. But if this law, known as the Anti-Sedition Law, is enacted here to-night you are going to have delegates return to France, to Italy, to England and to other countries of this United States and say: "Yes, full citizenship is enjoyed in the United States with the exception of one State, and that is Pennsylvania;" and you men of Pennsylvania who have so proudly acclaimed the wonderful work and valor of the men, whom we sent from Pennsylvania over to Europe, that you were so justly proud of, the Iron Division, the Rainbow Division and the others but when these delegates from all over the world return to their countries and report that of all the States in the United States there is one where the privilege of free speech and free assembly is about to be revoked, and that State is Pennsylvania, you men of the House cannot afford, as Pennsylvanians, to enact this law and have that up against you. I thank you.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Northumberland (Mr. Helt).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Northumberland (Mr. Helt) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HELT. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Butler (Mr. Woner) will proceed.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman where he finds the provision in this bill that denies any man his full citizenship?

Mr. HELT. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, under the caption in this bill, it reads:

"To incite or arouse discontent against the government of this State or of the United States.

"To disturb the peace and tranquility of this State or of the United States.

"Organizing or helping to organize or becoming a member of an assembly, society or group where any of the policies or purposes thereof are seditions as hereinbefore defined."

Mr. Speaker, labor and the citizenship of Pennsylvania are in no way fearful of this bill as it stands.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, may I not have the floor, as the gentleman did not answer my question correctly. The two items he originally read are not in this bill at all.

Mr. HELT. Mr. Speaker, as I stated, it is not the wording of the bill that the citizenship of Pennsylvania are so fearful of, but it is the possibility of decisions rendered under the interpretation of this bill.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, in answering my question the gentleman who just left the floor read two sections of this bill that are not now incorporated therein. I wish to call the attention of the members of the House to this fact, that nearly all of the objections to this bill have arisen from these original clauses which were stricken out. I sat here for five hours and listened to the discussion of the bill before the Committee on Judiciary General. I noted particularly that all of the objections were to clause "A," originally which says "To incite or arouse discontent against the Government of this State or of the United States," and to section D, which said originally, "To disturb the peace and tranquility of this State or of the United States." The other item objected to were the words "industrial reform." Now I insist that this bill is misunderstood. This bill was misnamed. It should not be known as the anti-sedition bill, it should be known as the anti-anarchy bill. Every clause of the eight clauses of this bill defines anarchy, and as the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander) showed to this House, every one of the items contains the word "violence." Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Clearfield (Mr. Phillips).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Clearfield (Mr. Phillips) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, gladly.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Clearfield in interpreting the clause to which he objected as unconstitutional, overlooked, doubtless, the fact that any "writing, publication, printing, cut, cartoon or utterance which advocates or teaches the duty, necessity or propriety of engaging in crime, violence or any form of terrorism as a means of accomplishing political reform"——

POINT OF ORDDR.

Mr. McINTYRE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. McINTYRE. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the gentleman is not interrogating, but speaking on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Butler (Mr. Woner) will confine himself to the interrogation.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to ask the gentleman from Clearfield if he believes that prohibiting the teaching or the counselling of crime, or the propriety of using crime as a means to bring about a change in a form of public government, is right or commendable?

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, no.

Mr. WONER. Then why do you object to that?

Mr. PHILLIPS. Because it does not say "form of government." Read the bill.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Clearfield whether he feels it is right to permit crime or violence or engaging in crime or violence to accomplish results of this nature?

Mr. PHILLIPS. No, no, by all means no.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman further. The gentleman said, in the course of his remarks, that any assemblage in a hall would be liable to arrest, that is, the members attending that assemblage. I ask the gentleman from Clearfield where he finds one word that he has stated or a scintilla of evidence to support his remarks?

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, every clause, from the first one on page 1, to the last one on page 3, could be interpreted by the courts of Pennsylvania to mean that people who meet in secret, in a hall, are met there for the purpose of sedition or treason or any utterance against the Government, without any foundation that it was the truth.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is assuming that the courts of this land are courts of persecution. Is it thinkable that under our form of Government, where justice and right prevail, and where the courts are answerable to the people, and where public sentiment is absolutely supreme, and where the voice of the people is the voice of the land, and where the courts are answerable to public sentiment, is it absolutely possible, men of this House, that the first paragraph would be construed by anyone to mean "anyone meeting in a secret manner." Does the gentleman from Clearfield believe that the Masonic Order, which meets in secret, could be arrested for sedition?

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, it might be.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, or the Odd Fellows?

Mr. PHILLIPS. If you pass this bill, and you will be one of them.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, that admission from the gentleman from Clearfield absolutely nullifies the logic of every argument that he has given here to-night. When a man admits on the floor of this House, in an intelligent Assembly, that anybody who meets in secret under this act is guilty of sedition, I wish to argue that from beginning to end that man's logic is folly. There are many phases of this bill which you might dispose of, but I want to bring one up that has not been presented here, one of vital importance. In the first place, I wish to say that I am the friend of organized labor. I refer to my record for the last twenty years. Twenty years ago I started out in recognition of the doctrine of labor, of collective bargaining. Twenty years ago I granted the eight hour day to labor. I ask any man to go back to my home and consult there with the members of the Typographical Union, and if there is any man there that will not say that I have stood squarely by every principle of labor, from beginning to end, then I will have my vote on this measure re-considered. I wish to-night here to bring up just three things: first, that the motive of this bill is absolutely unassailable. We have a man who presides in the office at the end of this Capitol whose character is unimpeachable. We have a great and a grand Governor of the State of Pennsylvania, a man of parts, a man of experience, a man of unquestioned loyalty, a man who has the peace and the tranquility and the prosperity of the State of Pennsylvania at heart as much as any man in this State. Yet that man has asked you for the passage of this bill. I want to call your attention to another thing. The object of this bill is to reach the man who cannot now be reached by the hand of the law because of the fact that the man who throws the bomb can be reached, yet the man who sows the seed of anarchy, the man who poisons the mind, is the man who cannot be reached. He is the man who sits behind the door and writes; sits behind the door and teaches and counsels and advises. He is the man who is responsible for anarchy in this country, and he is the man who ought to be reached. Now let me read, before I conclude, what took place in the State of West Virginia at this session of the Legislature. There was passed unanimously a bill known as the "Loyalty Bill." This bill, section 1, read as follows. I wish you to know that this bill was passed unanimously. I wish you to note just exactly what it is and how it refers to this bill and is related to it. The first section reads:

"It shall be unlawful for any person to speak, print, publish or communicate, by language, sign, picture, or otherwise, any teachings, doctrines or counsels in sympathy or favor of ideals, institutions or forms of government hostile, inimical or antagonistic to those now or hereafter existing under the Constitution and laws of this State or the United States, or in sympathy or favor of the propriety, duty or necessity of crime, violence or other unlawful methods of terrorism as a means of accomplishing economic or political reform, or in sympathy or favor of the overthrow of organized society, the unlawful destruction of property or the violation of law."

In the State of West Virginia they unanimously passed a law to prevent any man criticising the ideals of government, and in the last section—Mr. Speaker, I ask for order in the House until I have completed this, and it is no more than fair.

The SPEAKER. The House will be in order.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, the labor unions in the State of West Virginia, in convention, called to account fifteen members of the union, card members of the union, who were members of the House of Delegates, and who voted for the bill. Let us note what they say as to why labor in West Virginia, under the leadership of labor in the State of West Virginia, unanimously supported a bill of this character, a bill which has features far more drastic than those in the bill here. This is what they say:

"The title of the bill sets out clearly its purpose. It intends to safeguard our institutions and to protect our ideals and traditions against hostile forces within, who are unfriendly to a republican form of government and to repel foreign invasion, usurpation and invasion of evil influences from without. To this end section one of the bill makes it unlawful to use crime, violence or terrorism in an effort to change the Constitution; to overthrow the established order, or to subvert the common rights."

The very thing labor has been busy about, these labor unions in the State of West Virginia state in high, lofty and patriotic manner. Listen to what further they say. You say this bill abridges free speech. These unions in West Virginia say: "We do not believe that the bill abridges the right of free speech, or that it locks the lips of thought. It will protect all citizens alike, and follow the trades-union member in his support of the common good. It will only hinder the I. W. W.'s and the anarchists. If any effort is made to divert its course,——"

Mr. Speaker, this is my answer to every union man.

"If any effort is made to divert its course, we rely upon the Constitution of West Virginia and of the United States, both with confidence and security, realizing that no act of the legislature can suspend the oragnic law."

Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Clearfield (Mr. Phillips) imagine that this legislature can pass any bill that will suspend the oragnic law of the State of Pennsylvania, or abridge or evade in the least iota any rights which the organic law gives to the citizens of Pennsylvania? Mr. Speaker, I stand for this bill absolutely on conviction. No man has ever asked me to support it. The charges that there was lobbying in this House, so far as I am concerned, is untrue. I believe in this cause, I believe in safeguarding and protecting America and American institutions; and as the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander) told you there is nothing in this bill, from beginning to end, to interfere with those rights.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, it was the sense of this House according to the motion of the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Ramsey) that we extend the time one hour for the discussion of this bill. We have only spent thirty minutes, and I for one feel we should not interfere with the time allowed for this bill.

Mr. Speaker and members of this honorable body, seriously—what I rose for a moment ago was to beg this House to give attentive ear to the gentlemen upon the other side of this question, and I will detain you but a moment. I rise for the sole and express purpose of righting myself as representing perhaps the greatest unorganized body of laborers in the world, and I want the gentlemen upon the other side of this question to distinctly understand that when I claim to be in sympathy with labor throughout the State and Nation I am perfectly sincere in that statement; but I say to you that to bring the Order of Patrons of Husbandry as solidly aganist this bill is not only unkind, but is absolutely unfair, and as a member of the Grange, I took it upon myself Thursday, in returning from this House, to make special inquiry of every member of the Patrons of Husbandry with whom I came in contact, and I say to you, gentlemen of the House, there was not a single man, not a single man with whom I consulted, who said that he was opposed to the bill.

I simply rose to set the farmer right. The farmer is a man who believes in law and order and believing, as we do, that this bill cannot possibly hurt anybody, we, as farmers, in the northern end of Chester County, are in sympathy with the bill. Just one more word in reference to another point. I wish to say to the gentlemen of this House, and I believe you will agree with me, that the greatest lobbying in this House on this bill has been done against it. I have never seen such interest, such earnest work, upon any measure since I have been here as has been done on the part of the gentlemen who have been here lobbying against this bill. I say to you now, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, that I for one want to go on record as believing in law and order and in the protection of life and property, and in fair play everywhere and in every way and for that reason I shall support the bill.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to interrogate the gentleman from Chester.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Chester (Mr. North) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman, did you see any one from the Governor's office lobbying for this bill during this discussion.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir, I have.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir. A representative from the office of the Governor has been lobbying on the floor of this House through this discussion.

Mr. BRENDLE. Mr. Speaker, I wish to say this at this particular time. I do agree that a Democrat is the sponsor of this bill, but because a Democrat is the sponsor of this bill, do I have to swallow it? It is also said that it will pass on the floor of this House in a very peculiar manner. Like the member who has just preceded me has said, that he was questioned so frequently and that there was no man in opposition to this bill, but he should have known as to the lobbying back of this rail to-day. I say to you, why are you afraid of this bill? Inasmuch as you fear that it will not pass. This bill has very few friends. We know that two million of our boys are coming from the world war. If you needed those boys to fight your battles before, you will need them hereafter. Ninety per cent. of these men have bought liberty bonds. Do you think they will do anything to overthrow the government? What did these boys fight for? But for world democracy. I say, there is a snake in the grass. This is a question of vital importance to the labor people, and we want to do some thinking at this time. I dare say, the majority of these Democrats in the House to-night will vote against this bill. If this bill is passed, the Republican party is guilty of its passage. Just because a Democrat is the sponsor of this bill, the odium for passing it shall not fall upon them.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I asked the Secretary to the Governor if he is not lobbying amongst the members of this House, and he admits that he is, and I say the right thing to do is to order him off the floor of this House.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The SPEAKER. The roll will be verified.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON SENATE BILL NO. 891.

Mr. JOHN T. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 891, file folio 2951, was defeated on Wednesday, June 17th, 1919, be reconsidered.

Mr. BUNGARD. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the title.

The Clerk read the title as follows:

An Act regulating the licensing to practise dentistry of honorably discharged soldiers sailors and marines who served during the war with Germany and who were licensed and qualified to practice dentistry in other States

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, the motion to reconsider the vote by which this bill was defeated last Wednesday is out of order. That motion was made and defeated last Wednesday.

The SPEAKER. The point of order of the gentleman from Philadelphia is well taken. The motion should be, that the House reconsider the vote which was reconsidered last Wednesday. The Chair is informed that the House voted on the original question and the Chair will rule that the reconsideration was tantamount to the vote on the original bill. Therefore the Chair will entertain a motion from the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. John T. Davis) to reconsider the vote by which the reconsideration upon this bill was considered.

Mr. JOHN T. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I move to reconsider the vote by which the reconsideration upon this bill was considered.

Mr. BUNGARD. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. WHITEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WHITEMAN. Mr. Speaker, it is only fair to the House that I should state that when I made an argument against this bill, I did so in perfectly good faith, and with reference to the bill which was designated by the calendar. I since have found out that the calendar file folio was wrong, and that an amended bill was on the files; but that amended bill was not brought to the consideration of this House in any way whatsoever, and I think it is only fair to the sponsor of the bill, and only fair to the question under consideration, that the members should have an opportunity to consider the bill as it was amended, and as the file folio on the calendar should have designated, but did not, because of an error of the printer.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

A division was called for, and eighty-three gentlemen voting in the affirmative and thirty-eight in the negative, the question was decided in the affirmative, and the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. JOHN T. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 1079.

Mr. WILIAM DAVIS offered a motion, which was twice read as follows:

Moved by Mr. William Davis, seconded by Mr. Thaddeus Krause, that the vote by which House Bill No. 1079, file folio 5873, on Tuesday's calendar, June 17th, was defeated on final passage, be reconsidered.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the title of the bill.

The title of the bill was read by the Clerk as follows:

An Act relating to the sale of liquors not containing more than one-half of one per centum of alcohol

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the "noes" appeared to have it,

Whereupon, A division was called for, and eighty-three gentlemen voting in the affirmative and seventy-two in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative, and the motion agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The wages upon which death compensation shall be based shall not in any case be taken to exceed twenty dollars per week nor be less than ten dollars per week

This compensation shall be paid during three hundred weeks and in the case of children entitled to compensation under this section the compensation of each child shall continue after said period of three hundred weeks until such child reach the age of sixteen at the rate of fifteen per centum of wages if there be but one child with ten per centum additional for each additional child with a maximum of fifty per centum The board may if the best interest of the child or children shall so require at any time order and direct the compensation payable to a widow or widower on account of any child or children to be paid to the guardian of such child or children or if there be no guardian to such other person as the board as hereinafter provided may direct If there be no guardian or committee of any minor dependent or insane employe or dependent on whose account compensation is payable the amount payable on account of such minor dependent or insane employe or dependent may be paid to any surviving parent or to such other person as the board may order and direct and the board may require any person other than a guardian or committee to whom it has directed compensation for a minor dependent or insane employe or dependent to be paid to render as and when it shall so order accounts of the receipts and disbursements of such person and to file with it a satisfactory bond in a sum sufficient to secure the proper application of the moneys received by such person

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

On page 15, line 16, after the word "person" insert the following as Section 3:

"Section 3 That section three hundred and nine of article three of said Act of Assembly which reads as follows

"Section 309 Wherever in this article the term 'wages' is used it shall be construed to mean the money rate at which the service rendered is recompensed under the contract of hiring in force at the time of the accident and shall not include gratuities received from the employer or others nor shall it include board lodging or similar advantages received from the employer unless the money value of such advantages shall have been fixed by the parties at the time of hiring nor shall it include amounts deducted by the employer under the contract of hiring for labor material supplies tools or other things furnished or paid for by the employer and necessary for the performance of such contract by the employe In occupations involving seasonal employment or employment dependent upon the weather the employe's weekly wages shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which he has earned from all occupations during the year immediately preceding the accident, unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employe in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings In continuous employments, if immediately prior to the accident the rate of wages was fixed by the day or hour or by the output of the employe his weekly wages shall be taken to be five and one-half times his average earnings at such rate for a working day of ordinary length excluding earnings from overtime and using as a basis of calculation his earnings during so much of the preceding six months as he worked for the same employer Where the employe is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers his wages from all employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation," be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 309 Wherever in this article the term "wages" is used it shall be construed to mean the money rate at which the service rendered is recompensed under the contract of hiring in force at the time of the accident and shall not include gratuities received from the employer or others nor shall it include amounts deducted by the employer under the contract of hiring for labor furnished or paid for by the employer and necessary for the performance of such contract by the employe but shall include board and lodging received from the employer Whenever the employe receives board and lodging as a part of his wages the board shall be rated at fifty cents per day and board together with lodging shall be rated at one dollar per day for the purpose of computing wages In seasonal occupations the employe's weekly wages shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which he has earned from all occupations during the year immediately preceding the accident unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employe in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings In continuous employments if immediately prior to the accident the rate of wages was fixed by the day or hour or by the output of the employe his weekly wages shall be taken to be five and one-half times his average earnings at such rate for a working day and using as a basis of calculation his earnings during so much of the preceeding six months as he worked for the same employer Provided however That if the employe regularly and habitually worked more than five and one-half days per week the weekly wage shall be found by multiplying his average earnings for a working day by six and one-half or seven according to the customary number of working days constituting an ordinary week in his occupation or trade Where the employe is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers his wages from all employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation

In cases where the employe has been in the employ of the employer less than one full week and by reason of the shortness of time during which the employe has been in the employment of the employer or the nature or terms of the employment it is impracticable to ascertain the average weekly wages as hereinbefore provided the average weekly amount which during the six months previous to the injury has been earned by other persons employed by the same employer under similar contracts of hiring or if there are no persons so employed by other persons employed by other employers under similar contracts of hiring under similar conditions shall be taken as the basis fo rthe ascertainment of the weekly wages of such employe

Section 419 The Board may refer any question of fact arising under any petition including a petition for commutation heard by it to a referee to hear evidence and report to the Board the testimony taken before him or such testimony and findings of facts thereon as the Board may order The Board may refer any question of fact arising out of any petition assigned to a referee to any other referee to hear evidence and report the testimony so taken thereon to the original referee

Section 420 The Board or a referee if it or he deem it necessary may of its or his own motion either before during or after any hearing make an investigation of the facts set forth in the petition or answer The Board or referee with the consent of the Board may appoint one or more imparitial physicians or surgeons to examine the injuries of the plaintiff and report thereon or he may employ the services of such other experts as shall appear necessary to ascertain the facts The report of any physician surgeon or expert appointed by the Board or by a referee shall be filed with the Board or referee as the case may be and shall be a part of the record and open to inspection as such

The Board shall fix the compensation of such physicians surgeons and experts which when so fixed shall be paid out of the sums appropriated to the Department of Workmen's Compensation for the maintenance of the Department and shall be taxed as part of the costs of the proceedings to be repaid to such Department by either party or both as the Board may direct If any sum so taxed shall not be paid by the party directed to repay the same may be collected as costs are now collectible

Section 421 All hearings before the Board or before a referee shall be public

Section 422 Neither the Board nor any referee shall be bound by the technical rules of evidence in conducting any hearing or investigation but all findings of fact shall be based only upon competent evidence

If any party or witness resides outside of the Commonwealth or through illness or other cause is unable to testify before the Board or a referee his or her testimony or deposition may be taken within or without this Commonwealth in such manner and in such form as the Board may by special order or general rule prescribe The records kept by a hospital of the medical or surgical treatment given to an employe in such hospital shall be admissible as evidence of the medical and surgical matters stated therein but shall not be conclusive proof of such matters

Section 423 Any party in interest may within ten days after notice of a referee's award or disallowance of compensation shall have been served on him take an appeal to the board on the ground (1) that the award or disallowance of compensation is not in conformity with the terms of this act or that the referee committed any other error of law (2) that the findings of fact and award or disallowance of compensation was unwarranted by the evidence or was procured by the fraud coercion or other improper conduct of any party in interest The Board may upon cause shown extend the time provided in this article for the taking of such appeal or for the filing of an answer or other pleading

In any such appeal the Board may disregard the findings of fact of the referee and may examine the testimony taken before such referee and if it deem proper may hear other evidence and may substitute for the findings of the referee such findings of fact as the evidence taken before the referee and the Board as hereinbefore provided may in the judgment of the Board require and may make such disallowance or award of compensation or other order as the facts so found by it may require

Section 424 Whenever an appeal shall be based upon an alleged error of law it shall be the duty of the Board to grant a hearing thereon The Board shall fix a time and place for such hearing and shall serve notice thereof on all parties in interest

As soon as may be after any such hearing the Board shall either sustain or reverse the referee's award or disallowance of compensation or make such modification thereof as it shall deem proper

Section 425 Whenever an appeal shall be taken on the ground that the referee's award or disallowance of compensation was unwarranted by the evidence or because of fraud coercion or other improper conduct by any party in interest the Board may in its discretion grant a hearing de novo before the Board or assign the petition for rehearing to any referee designated by it or sustain the referee's award or disallowance of compensation If the Board shall grant a hearing de novo it shall fix a time and place for same and shall notify all parties in interest

As soon as may be after any hearing de novo by the Board it shall in writing state its findings of fact and award or disallow compensation in accordance with the provisions of this act

Section 426 The Board upon petition of any party and upon cause shown at any time before the Court of Common Pleas of any county of this Commonwealth to whom an appeal has been taken under the provisions of Section Four Hundred and Twenty-seven of this article shall have taken final action thereon may grant a rehearing of any petition upon which the Board has made an award or disallowance of compensation or other order or ruling or has sustained or reversed any action of a referee If the Board shall grant a rehearing of any petition from the Board's action on which an appeal has been taken to and is pending in the Court of Common Pleas of any county of this Commonwealth under the provisions of Section Four Hundred and Twenty-seven of this article the Board shall file in such court a certified copy of its order granting such rehearing and it shall thereupon be the duty of such court to cause the record of the case to be remitted to the Board

Section 427 Any party may appeal from any action of the Board on matters of law to the Court of Common Pleas of the county in which the accident occurred or of the county in which the adverse party resides or has a permanent place of business or by agreement of the parties to the Court of Common Pleas of any other county of this Commonwealth Such appeal must be brought within ten days after notice of the action of the Board has been served upon such party unless any Court of Common Pleas to which an appeal lies shall upon cause shown extend the time herein provided for taking the appeal The party taking the appeal shall at the time of taking the appeal serve upon the adverse party a written notice thereof setting forth the date of the appeal and the court in which the same is filed and shall file with his notice of appeal such exceptions to the action of the Board as he may desire to take and shall specify the findings of fact if any of the Board or of the referee sustained by the Board which he alleges to be unsupported by competent evidence

Upon filing of the notice of an appeal the prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas to which the appeal has been taken shall issue a writ of certiorari directed to the Workmen's Compensation Board commanding it within ten days after service thereof to certify to such court its entire record in the matter in which the appeal has been taken The writ so issued shall be mailed by the prothonotary to the Bureau at Harrisburg together with a copy of the exceptions The Board shall within ten days after such service certify to such court its entire record in the matter in which the appeal has been taken including the notes of testimony

Any court before whom an appeal is pending from any action of the Board may remit the record to the Board for more specific findings of fact if the findings of the Board or referee are not in its opinion sufficient to enable it to decide the question of law raised by the appeal

If the Court of Common Pleas of any county of this Commonwealth shall affirm on award or order of the board or of a referee sustained by the board fixing the compensation payable under this act the court shall enter judgment for the total amount stated by the award or order to be payable whether then due and accrued or payable in future instalments If such court shall sustain the appellant's exceptions to a finding or findings of fact and reverse the action of the board founded thereon the court shall remit the record to the board for further hearing and determination in which the procedure shall be the same as that hereinbefore provided in this article in the case of a petition presented to the board except that the board may order that any part of the testimony taken in the original proceedings shall be considered as though taken in such further hearing

The prothonotary of any Court of Common Pleas to which an appeal has been taken from the board shall send to the board a certificate of the judgment of the court as soon as rendered with a copy of any opinion which may be filed in the case At the end of the period hereinafter allowed for an appeal from the judgment of the court the record of the board shall be remitted to it by the Prothonotary unless an appeal shall have been taken If such appeal shall be taken the record shall be remitted to the board by the prothonotary on its return from the Appellate Court

Any party may appeal to the Supreme or Superior Court from the judgment of the Court of Common Pleas within thirty days after entry of said judgment Such appeal shall be taken and prosecuted in the same manner and form and with the same effect as is provided in other cases of appeal to the Supreme or Superior Court and the record so certified shall contain all that was before the Court of Common Pleas Any appeal from the action of the board to a Court of Common Pleas and from it to the Supreme or Superior Court shall take precedence over all other civil actions

Section 428 At any time after the approval of a compensation agreement or after an award or order has been made by the board or referee the employe or dependents entitled to compensation thereunder may file a certified copy of the agreement and the order of the board approving the same or of the award or order with the prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas of any county and the prothonotary shall enter the total amount of compensation stated in the agreement award or order to be payable to the employe or his dependents whether then due and accrued or payable in future instalments as a judgment against the employer or other party liable under such agreement or award Such judgment shall be a lien against property of the employer or other party liable under such agreement or award and execution may issue thereon forthwith

Wherever after an accident any employe or his dependents shall have entered into a compensation agreement with his employer or shall file a claim petition with the board he may file a certified copy thereof with the prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas of any county The prothonotary shall enter the amount stipulated in any such agreement or claimed in any such petition as judgment against the employer If the agreement be approved by the board or compensation awarded as claimed in the petition the amount of compensation stipulated in the agreement or claimed in the petition shall be a lien as of the date when the agreement or petition was filed with the prothonotary Pending the approval of the agreement or the award of compensation no other lien which may be attached to the employer's property during such time shall gain priority over the lien of such agreement or award but no execution shall issue on any compensation judgment before the approval of the agreement or the award of compensation on the said petition

If the agreement be disapproved or after hearing compensation shall be disallowed the employer may file with the prothonotary of any county in which the petition or agreement is on record as a judgment a certfiied copy of the disapproval of the agreement or disallowance of compensation and it shall be the duty of such prothonotary to strike off the judgment

If the amount of compensation claimed be disallowed but another amount awarded the compensation judgment shall be a lien to the extent of the award as of the date of filing the petition with the prothonotary with the same effect as to other liens and the same disabiltiy to issue execution thereon as if the compensation claimed had been allowed In such cases the prothonotary shall make such modification of the record as shall be appropriate

If the compensation payable under any agreement or award upon which judgment has been entered under the provisions of this section shall be modified suspended reinstated or terminated by a supplemental agreement executed under the provisions of section four hundred and eight or by an award or order made under the provisions of section four hundred and thirteen any party to such judgment at any time after such agreement has been approved by the board or after the expiration of the time allowed for an appeal from the award or order may file with the prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas of any county in which such judgment is on record a certified copy of such supplemental agreement award or order and it shall thereupon be the duty of the prothonotary to modify suspend reinstate or satisfy such judgment in accordance with the terms of such supplemental agreement award or order

Execution may issue by first filing with the prothonotary an affidavit that there has been a default in payments of compensation due on any judgment for compensation entered prior to the approval of the compensation agreement or an award on petition as soon as such agreement shall have been approved or such award made as evidenced by the approval of the board or the award or by a certified copy thereof

Execution shall in all cases be for the amount of compensation and interest thereon due and payable up to the date of the issuance of said execution with costs and further execution may issue from time to time as further compensation shall become due and payable until full amount of the judgment with costs shall have actually been paid

Section 429 If any party against whom a compensation agreement award or other order fixing the compensation payable under this act has been filed of record in any county of this Commonwealth in accordance with the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-eight of this article or against whom judgment has been entered by the court of common pleas of any county on any award or order of the board or a referee shall at any time present to the board receipts or copies thereof certified by any referee showing the payment of compensation as required by the agreement or award in full to the date of presentation to the referee the board shall issue a certificate to such party in the form prescribed stating the extent to which the judgment of the agreement or award has been reduced Upon the presentation of such certificate to the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county in which such agreement or award has been filed of record as a judgment or in which judgment on an award has been entered by the court of common pleas it shall be the prothonotary's duty to mark such judgment satisfied to the extent of the payments so certified and upon the presentation to such prothonotary of a certificate issued by the board under the provisions of section three hundred and seventeen of this act it shall be the duty of the prothonotary to mark such judgment fully satisfied

Section 430 The lien of any judgment entered upon any award shall not be divested by any appeal If however the party appealing from the award shall file with the board a bond in such amount and in such form as the rules and regulations of the board shall direct the appeal shall pending its decision excuse the payment of so much of the compensation as is contested therein but if the final decision on appeal shall sustain the award it shall be the duty of the employer by whom such award is payable to make payments of compensation as from the date of the original award If on appeal the award is sustained as to a part it shall be the duty of the employer by whom such part is payable to make payments as from the date of the original award In case the award is annulled on appeal it shall be the duty of the prothonotary of any county in which such award has been entered as a judgment to mark it satisfied

Section 431 The cost of the prothonotary for entering the amount of compensation as provided in this act or making a modification of the record or marking the judgment satisfied shall be allowed taxed and collected as upon a confession of judgment on a judgment note

Section 432 It shall be the duty of the prothonotary of each court of common pleas and of the Supreme and Superior court of the Commonwealth to make a monthly report to the board of the disposition of all appeals taken to such court under the provisions of this article

Section 433 A document on file in the bureau or with the board or any referee or part of the record of any proceedings taken under ariticles III and IV of this act shall be proved by a copy thereof certified by the chairman of the board and attested by the secretary under the seal of the Board

Section 434 A final receipt given by an employe or dependent entitled to compensation under a compensation agreement or award reciting that the disability or dependency has terminated shall be prima facie evidence of the termination of the employer's liability to pay compensation under such agreement or award Provided however That the Board or a referee designated by the Board may at any time set aside a final receipt upon petition filed with the Board if it be proved that such receipt was procured by fraud coercion or other improper conduct of a party or is founded upon mistake of law or of fact

Legislative Journal.

Session 1919 — 123rd of the General Assembly

Vol. 5. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JUNE 24, 1919. No. 69.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, June 24, 1919.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward E. Beidleman) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas W. Davis, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we thank Thee for the fundamental principles and high ideals embodied in the Declaration of American Independence. These principles and ideals have placed our government in the front line of national achievements. The spirit of our people is liberating the thoughts and lifting the ideals of humanity everywhere. Help us to show our gratitude to those who have proceeded us by perpetuating the basic principles and practical ideals of our American government. May we turn the spirit of unrest into the channels of permanent prosperity. These favors we ask in our Saviour's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. VARE, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1228 (House Bill No. 1642), as follows:

An Act to safeguard human life and health throughout the Commonwealth by providing for the reporting quarantining and control of diseases declared communicable by this act and by regulation of the Department of Health providing for the prevention of infection therefrom and prescribing penalties

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the following diseases are hereby specifically declared to be communicable to wit

Actinomycosis anthrax bubonic plague cerebrospinal meningitis (epidemic) (cerebrospinal fever spotted fever) chickenpox Asiatic cholera diphtheria (diphtheritic croup membranous croup putrid sore throat) epidemic dysentery (bacillary or amebic dysentery) erysipelas German measles glanders (farcy) rabies (hydrophobia) leprosy malarial fever measles mumps pneumonia (true) puerperal fever relapsing fever scarlet fever (scarlatina scarlet rash) smallpox (variola varioloid) tetanus trachoma trichiniasis tuberculosis in any form typhoid fever para typhoid fever typhus fever whooping-cough yellow fever anterior poliomyelitis impetigo contagiosa pellagra scabies or uncinariasis

The Department of Health may when it deems it necessary to safeguard human life and health declare as communicable diseases additional to those hereinabove specifically so declared but only in the following manner that is to say

The Commissioner of Health shall call a meeting of the Advisory Board five days' written notice of which shall be sent to each member of the board The notice shall state the time and place of meeting and the fact that a proposed regulation will be presented declaring a certain disease or diseases—setting it or them forth by name—to be communicable The notice shall also state such of the diseases as should in the opinion of the commissioner of Health be quarantinable or reportable or both the quarantine period therefor

If at such meeting four members of the Advisory Board personally present shall vote affirmatively upon such proposed regulation any disease therein set forth is or are hereby declared communicable with the same force and effect as if expressly enumerated in this act Any such disease is hereby further declared quarantinable or reportable or both as may be provided in the regulation with the force and effect hereinbefore referred to Printed notice of the regulation shall be promulgated in the same manner as is provided by law in the case of other regulations of the Department of Health

The regulation may be amended at such meeting so as to eliminate some or any of the diseases set forth in the notice but no disease shall be declared communicable which is not contained in the notice

Every physician practicing in any portion of this Commonwealth who shall treat or examine any person suffering from or affected with any disease herein specifically declared communicable and reported or by regulation declared communicable shall if said case shall be located in a township of the first class a borough or a city forthwith make a report in writing to the health authorities of said township city or borough and if said case shall be located in a township of the second class or a city borough or township of the first class not having a board of health or body acting as such to the health officer appointed by the State Department of Health for such district upon blanks supplied for that purpose in which report he shall over his or her own signature state the name of the disease and the name age sex color nativity and occupation if any of the person suffering therefrom together with the street and house number of the premises in which said person may be located or otherwise sufficiently designate the same the date of the onset of the disease the name and occupation of the householder in whose family the disease may have occurred the number of children in said household attending school and the name or names of the school or schools so attended together with such information relating to said case as may be required by said health authorities and the State Department of Health

NAYS—0.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1518 (House Bill No. 1400), entitled:

"An Act to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States by prohibiting the manufacture sale and transportation within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes defining the term 'intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes' as used in this act regulating the manufacture sale and the licensing for sale of intoxicating liquors for medicinal sacramental chemical mechanical industrial manufacturing or scientific purposes and of the non-intoxicating liquors permitted to be manufactured sold transported imported and exported under the provisions of the act and providing penalties"

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, this bill, on final passage now, is known as the Ramsey Bill. It is intended to permit, after nation-wide prohibition goes into force, the manufacture of beer to contain two and three-fourth per cent. alcohol. I consider it a very dangerous and even a vicious bill. Those who drafted the bill were so intent upon having their idea put through that they had to amend the entire first section of the title. The title contains this expression, beginning at the fifth line, "Within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes defining the term "intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes." The first exception I take is to that in the title. Why should the State define intoxicating liquors until after the federal government has defined intoxicating liquors? In the Eighteenth Amendment, section two, it says "the Congress and the several States shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation." Mr. President, I hold that this bill is not appropriate legislation. We have forty-eight states in the union and if each state is going to define what intoxicating liquors means, how much alcohol they shall contain, we will have forty-eight definitions, and the government have but one. We all know, we read the daily papers, we know that the government at Washington, Congress, is now wrestling with that question. We also know, as intelligent men, the government, as far as we can see, does not intend to make the content of alcohol anywhere near two and three-fourths per cent., rather we believe they are going to have less than one per cent. Then why, in the face of Congress, shall we set a standard of alcohol in beer, or any other liquor, that is way above what we believe the government will allow? If you do this thing it will result in such great confusion that it will cause endless trouble, it will invite lawsuits, it will endanger people who act under the State law. They may get into trouble. You are inviting your friends to get into trouble and I want to say that if you do that the same thing that has happened in every other state will happen in Pennsylvania I am informed that Georgia and Alabama and some other states passed bills permitting in drink two and three-fourths per cent. of alcohol and the confusion was such that they had to repeal those laws, and have repealed them, at least in Georgia and Alabama. We want to pass laws that will be harmonious, that will assist the people. We do not want to pass laws that will cause confusion and lawsuits and trouble.

Then we pass on in this bill and come down to section two, "the term 'intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes' as used in this act means all vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixture thereof for beverage purposes which contain more than two and three-quarter per cent. of alcohol." "Admixture thereof" is a very serious question in this bill. In section three it goes on to say: "It shall be lawful to manufacture sell transport import or export." "Or any admixture thereof." Why not define admixture? You may take two and three-fourths per cent. of alcohol and by adding some chemical to it give it all the effects of good old strong whiskey. Define that admixture. It is a loophole that should not be left in the bill. We pass on to page four and it says in the last two lines of the section, at the top of the page "such liquors or beverages shall be considered non-intoxicating." They shall be considered non-intoxicating whether they are or not. Some people will say that two and three-fourths per cent. alcohol will not make one drunk; some people will say it does. I know some people are not accustomed to it and the alcohol in the beer would make them drunk. Then this bill says whether that is intoxicating or not. It reminds me of the boy who drew a picture of a dog and nobody could recognize that it was a dog, and the boy put under it "this is a dog." You might just as well do the same thing here.

We go on to section four "All laws now in force in this Commonwealth relating to the regulation restraint manufacture sale or licensing to sell or manufacture vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixture thereof" there it is again "and all prohibition therein contained and penalties therein provided for violations shall be and remain in full force and effect as to the manufacture sale or transportation of non-intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes which contain not to exceed two and three-quarters per centum of alcohol." In other words, the Brooks High License Law and all other high license laws are continued in full force. Why continue the High License Laws of Pennsylvania in force? They say drug stores and those who sell to manufacturers for sacramental and church purposes shall be controlled. They do not need to leave the Brooks High License Law in full force; drug stores and manufacturers do not have so many rooms and so many beds in a room and all that sort of thing. I want to say that the direct danger in that you can control. I want to say that I offered a bill to enforce this, and to properly enforce it under prohibition conditions. That bill never got beyond the stage of the pink. It is an infant, a little baby, the committee threw it out, threw it into the waste basket, and then ordered this bill out, which is a subterfuge, and I do not believe it at all workable. The infant will live and I predict that it will get out of its swaddling clothes and come back into this legislature and you will be glad to pass it.

Now we pass on to section six. There you see again "any person co-partnership association or corporation licensed to manufacture or sell vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors under the liquor license laws of this Commonwealth." We ought to pass an act which is in harmony with the federal laws and not place the laws of the State above the federal laws. We are not doing our duty to the government if we do such a thing as that. Take it all the way through it is an effort to uphold the old license system which would go by the board on the twenty-first of January. It reminds me of the saying when a man is protesting and protesting that he protests too much. This bill protests entirely too much. It is suspicious, it is bad. They hang on to this to the very last. You take section twelve on page nine and you will see that it closes by saying "This section does not impose any penalty for any violation of law the punishment for which is provided for by the liquor laws of the Commonwealth." They are making a dreadful attempt in the last ditch. This bill will not get very far if we do not defeat it and I hope we will defeat it. It is not right to pass this on to the Governor, but we believe what he will do if it is passed on to him. We could spare him that and I call upon the members of this Senate to vote this bill down. Wait until the government sets the standard of intoxicants and then it will be time for us to pass a bill. You see that this preparation is to be sold under the High License Law. If this beer, which is to contain not less than two and three-quarters per cent. of alcohol, is an innocent conviction, an innocent drink, why confine it to these people who have licenses and only to them? If it is good and wholesome, why cannot everybody sell it, the same as they sell lemonade or pop or any other soft drink? It can only be sold, as you know very well, in that way. If it is sold promiscously some people would get drunk. I call upon you to consider carefully and vote this bill down. I have it from one who is in high authority in the politics of this State, and the politics of this nation, he said "I did not believe in prohibition, I voted against it, but I am a good soldier, I am going to go along, I believe in a strong enforcement Act of Congress:" and I said to him "How about Pennsylvania? We need an enforcement act in Pennsylvania after the twenty-first of next January we must have it;" and he said "I am also in favor of a strong Enforcement Act in Pennsylvania." He sees what is coming and he is one of the leaders of the Republican party and I appeal to you by all that is fair to vote the Ramsey Bill down.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I did not intend to say anything on this bill at all, but after what the Senator from Blair has said I would like to say a few words so that there can be an explanation on record why I am voting for the bill. I may have misunderstood the Senator from Blair a few days ago when his bill was before the House, but I recall very well that he read this thing in the Constitutional Amendment as follows: "The Congress and the federal states shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation." "This article meaning the first section. The first section fails to define an intoxicating beverage. It simply says that it is up to Congress and up to the various states, by appropriate legislation, to define what an intoxicant beverage is. My recollection is that the Senator from Blair said the other evening, in arguing for a bill, that he thought it was the duty of this legislature to deal with this proposition and he read section two. I firmly believe that Congress and in fact the people, meant what they said when they said that Congress should have power to define what is an intoxicant. It is an indefinite term, it is an indefinite word. I think myself it was very unwise that that power should have been passed over to the State at all. I believe that it is a question that should have been settled entirely by Congress, as all other Constitutional questions are, by appropriate legislation. But the amendment was that "Congress and the several States." It applies with equal force to the state as it does to Congress that we should define this question. Personally I do not think that two and three-quarters per cent. is an intoxicating beverage, and therefore, I will express my thought on the subject by voting aye. If my friend from Blair believes that it should be less than one per cent. he should vote no, and so we should all vote on the question whether we believe two and three-quarters per cent. means an intoxicating beverage. That is the reason for my desire to explain my vote, which will be aye. It certainly is in the Constitutional Amendment that it is the duty of this legislature, as well as Congress, to define what is an intoxicant.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, that is true, but we should wait for Congress. I said a few moments ago that there are forty-eight states and there will be forty-eight definitions. We should act in harmony and that is what the second section of the Constitution means. Let us wait for Congress. I have quoted Georgia and Alabama and some other States and when I said that I do not deny it. I repeat it, I was trying to get this bill, which is an honest enforcement act, out of committee, and that is the bill that should have been passed by this legislature.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, in November 1918, the citizens of Pennsylvania by an unprecedented vote elected as Governor of this Commonwealth for the ensuing four years, the Hon. William C. Sproul, of Chester. A few weeks ago, at the instance of Governor Sproul, this Senate and this legislature passed a ratification of the National Prohibitory Amendment. In my judgment there is no reason why any member of this Senate who voted in favor of the Prohibitory Amendment should not continue to follow the judgment of the Governor in the handling of this question. From my view point I fully coincide with the Governor of this Commonwealth that this is a federal and not a state question, and therefore should be dealt with by the Congress of the United States in defining what an intoxicant beverage is before this legislature attempts to confirm any given percentage of alcohol. I am not going to take up the time of the Senate because I do not believe anything that I may say here will change the mind of any member of this Senate, but after an inquiry of the Governor of the Commonwealth for his views on this subject I would like to read a letter which he addressed to me yesterday as follows:

Hon. T. L. Eyre,
Senate Chamber,
Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Senator: In reference to your inquiry as to whether I had expressed my opinion regarding my attitude toward the so called Ramsey Bill, which would establish a 2 3-4 per cent. alcoholic content as a definition of intoxicating liquors; I beg to advise that I have repeatedly expressed my opinion that this legislation is decidedly undesirable.

While I regret that no other enforcement legislation has been passed, I am convinced that this bill would not in any way meet the requirements and that it would be entirely futile, in that it would not accomplish any purpose in opposition to the Federal legislation which seems certain of enactment. If we should pass this bill and it should be approved, it would not avail against the Federal legislation and would not accomplish any purpose for which it is intended. In the absence of Federal legislation or in case that the President of Congress should rescind the present war prohibition regulations, the present laws in Pennsylvania would be forced until the Federal Prohibition Amendment goes into effect next January. If the war-time regulations are not rescinded this proposed enactment of our Legislature would not be effective in opposition to the Federal law, whatever it may be.

For these reasons I do not see that there is any necessity for the passage of this bill and, in fact, regard it as an undesirable proposition politically and legally.

Very sincerely,
William C. Sproul.

I call upon the majority of the members of this Senate to stand by the Governor of this Commonwealth at this time in his views on the enactment of this legislation, which he deems unwise in the face of the effort that is being made at this time by the National Congress to define this very question, and why pass over to the Governor a bill which it must be evident to the minds of every member on the floor of this Senate that he cannot sanction or approve. I therefore ask the majority party on the floor of this Senate to stand by the Governor of the Commonwealth and vote no on this bill.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, it must be apparent to every gentleman sitting in this chamber that if the working man is going to buy a glass of beer in the future he ought at least to get a glass of something that has more than the semblence of beer. What they are selling now has two and three-quarters per cent., if I understand it. When the prohibition amendment came up before this Senate I voted for it and stated at that time that I was not in favor of taking the beer away from men when it is properly used. It seems to me it is going to far to say to a working man, or all the working men of this State, that they can have beer of less than one per cent. which means just about colored water, not fit to drink—good water spoiled. No less than one of the leading ministers of Philadelphia, Rev. Russell Conwell, only yesterday one week ago declared in favor of it, that it was a wholesome drink for all working people. I would like to interrogate the Senator from Blair, Mr. Snyder.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair, Mr. Snyder, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, certainly.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I would like to inquire if the Senator thinks he can become intoxicated by drinking the beer that is brewed now.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I do not know. I have not drank any. If it contains two and three-fourths per cent., I could.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator if you are going to have the privilege of selling beer in Pennsylvania would it not be a good thing to sell it under the restriction of the high license laws whereby the State gets revenue from those who sell it?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I think not. I think we had better fall in line with the Federal Government, we had better defeat this bill and wait for Congress.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, suppose Congress does not act.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, Congress will act.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, how does the Senator know that?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, every indication points to that, and they were elected by the people who want that and they will serve their constituents.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Senate, I do not want to influence a single vote either way on this bill, but it seems to me after all that the only real interest I have in the bill is to try and get the working man something for his money, something that one of the leading ministers in the State, as well as many others, say is not going to hurt the men, but help them.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare, if in his judgment he believes that any legislation that we might enact here could be enforced in opposition to legislation that will in all probability be passed by the national Congress.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I say no, our legislation could not be enforced, but there is no sure thing and it is hardly reasonable that Congress will take any part in this liquor question at this session. I can see that the United States Congress would have the right to set the rate rather than the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Philadelphia further whether he does not believe that this is a federal rather than a state proposition?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I do not agree with the Senator from Chester on that. The Constitution has been read by the Senator from Delaware, and that says that the State, as well as the United States Government, is to set the rate of the amount of alcohol used.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I would think that the statement of the Senator from Philadelphia would seem to conflict. If he believes that a State enactment cannot be enforced in opposition to a federal enactment. Certainly it must be a federal rather than a State proposition, if the federal proposition has enforcement over the State proposition.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, in answer to that I would say that it is not up to this Senate to guess what the National Congress is going to do. We ought to do what we think is right here and if, the National Congress overrides us that is a matter for the United States Congress and not for us.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I would no doubt be informing the Senate of what it already knows but I will call its attention to this fact, especially the Senator from Chester. The language of the amendment speaks for itself and the language of the amendment makes it the duty of the state, as well as the National Government. It is a fact that there never has been such language used in an amendment. The original document, article one, says Congress shall have power to pass legislation for the enforcement of the Constitution and all its amendments. This amendment does that. This Senate did not make that amendment, nor did the people of the State of Pennsylvania make it, the people of the United States made it. I believe it was a very unwise thing to put such language in there directing that the legislature of the state shall be co-ordinate with the legislative body of the National Government. It was not put there by the Senate of Pennsylvania. That amendment says it is the duty of this legislature to deal with the question, namely, define what is an intoxicant and provide penalties for its violation. This Constitutional Amendment directs that they shall do it and secondly, I feel that it is the duty of the legislature to deal with the question if in the wisdom of this Senate or in the wisdom of the legislature of Pennsylvania that intoxicants should be one per cent. and if it is in harmony with the National Congress that may happen, but it may happen that we may have forty-eight states doing what this Constitutional Amendment directs that they shall do and makes it their duty to do, and in dealing with this question we are doing exactly what the second section of that Constitutional Amendment directs we shall do. The language can not possibly be declouded, this is plain language.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, it seems to me that there is an effort to decloud the whole question. There is nobody but what will concede that the legislature will eventually deal with this question, but it is a Federal question and a Federal proposition and the legislature certainly cannot enact legislation contradictory to the legislation that the Federal Government must enact and therefore the language of the act itself or of the amendment itself is very plain in the intent that the legislature will follow the plan set by Congress in what shall constitute an intoxicating beverage. I fully agree with the views of the Governor of the Commonwealth that at this time it is unnecessary and foolish legislation.

And the question recurring,

An Act making an appropriation for the purpose of reimbursing counties for moneys advanced to incorporated county agricultural associations and for reimbursing incorporated county agricultural associations for premiums paid on exhibits

Whereas By the act approved the eighteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand and thirty-five) entitled "An Act for the encouragement of agriculture and the holding of agricultural exhibitions providing State aid for certain agricultural associations and regulating the payment thereof" it is provided that in counties having one incorporated county agricultural association conforming to the requirements of the act such association shall be entitled to receive from the Commonwealth an annual sum not exceeding two thousand dollars equal to the amount paid by such association as premiums for exhibits at its annual exhibition exclusive of premiums paid on trials of speed and in all counties where there is more than one such association the said association shall be entitled to receive from the Commonwealth a sum not exceeding in the aggregate four thousand dollars to be apportioned by the county commissioners among such associations according to the amount of premiums paid for exhibits by such associations exclusive of premiums for trials of speed and

Whereas By section six of said act it is provided that payments to such incorporated county agricultural association shall be made by the county commissioners on or before the fifteenth day of December in the year in which the exhibition is held and upon the filing with the Auditor General of the Commonwealth on or before December fifteenth of each year of the certificate of the county treasurer of the respective counties showing the amount of money paid and to whom the Auditor General shall issue his warrant for the amount so paid directing the State Treasurer to pay into the treasury of the said counties the amount so paid and

Whereas In the case of "Lycoming County Fair Association versus Lycoming County" reported in Volume forty-four Pennsylvania County Court page two hundred and eighty it was held that this act of one thousand nine hundred fifteen was unconstitutional because there was not appropriated by the General Assembly of the session of one thousand nine hundred and fifteen money sufficient to reimburse the several countis for the money advanced to associations entitled to receive the benefits of said act and that therefore the county might become liable for a part of said charge and that there was no notice in the title of the said act that such a charge might be imposed upon the county and

Whereas Subsequent to the decision of the court in the above stated case the Auditor General and the State Treasurer ceased payment of said money to the several counties and

Whereas The sum appropriated by the Act of July twenty-five one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand one hundred and ninety-five) entitled "An Act for the encouragement of agriculture and the holding of agricultural exhibitions providing State aid for certain agricultural associations and regulating the payment thereof" was insufficient to reimburse all the agricultural associations in accordance with the provisions of said act and

Whereas The said associations relying upon the good faith of the Commonwealth in making said appropriations are entitled to be reimbursed for the premiums paid for the exhibits and said money is really due to said associations therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of sixty-three thousand and sixteen dollars and eighty-eight cents ($63,016.88) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to reimburse the several counties for moneys advanced to agricultural associations and for the purpose of reimbursing also county agricultural associations for the years one thousand nine hundred and fifteen one thousand nine hundred and sixteen and one thousand nine hundred and eighteen for premiums paid for exhibits at their annual exhibitions exclusive of premium paid on trials of speed in accordance with the provisions of said acts

Section 2 The Auditor General is hereby directed to draw his warrant upon the State Treasurer for the purpose of reimbursing the several counties which in accordance with the provisions of said acts have paid any moneys to any such incorporated county agricultural association during the years one thousand nine hundred fifteen and one thousand nine hundred sixteen and have filed a certificate thereof with the Auditor General showing the amount paid and to whom Upon the filing with the Auditor General of any claims by any such incorporated county agricultural associations under oath showing the amount paid for premiums on exhibits during the years one thousand nine hundred fifteen one thousand nine hundred sixteen and one thousand nine hundred eighteen and stating further that such association has not been reimbursed by the county or by the Commonwealth as provided by said acts the Auditor General is directed to draw his warrant on the State Treasurer in favor of such incorporated county agricultural associations for the amount so paid not exceeding in any case however the amount provided for by law

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1558 (House Bill No. 689), as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to carry out the provisions of an act approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirteen entitled "An Act applicable to all counties of this Commonwealth to provide monthly payments as approved by the trustees to indigent widowed or abandoned mothers for partial support of their children in their own homes The manner of appointment of the trustees the administration of the trust amount of appropriations proportioning appropriations co-ordinate appropriations amounts to be paid form of records eligibility penalties and reports as set forth" and the amendments thereto and creating the office of Assistant State Supervisor of the Mothers' Assistance Fund

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of six hundred thousand ($600,000) dollars together with the unexpended balance of the money appropriated for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and seventeen or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirteen entitled "An Act applicable to all counties of this Commonwealth to provide monthly payments as approved by the trustees to indigent widowed or abandoned mothers for partial support of their children in their own homes The manner of appointment of the trustees the administration of the trust amount of appropriations proportioning appropriations of the trust amunt of appropriatins proportioning appropriations coordinate appropriations amounts to be paid form of records eligibility penalties and reports as set forth" and the amendments thereto

Out of the sum appropriated the following amounts shall be applied to the following purposes

For the payment of the salary of the State Supervisor of the Mothers Assistance Fund for the two fiscal years the sum of four thousand eight hundred ($4,800) dollars

For the payment of the salary of an Assistance State Supervisor to be appointed by the Governor at a salary of one thousand six hundred ($1,600) dollars per annum for the two fiscal years the sum of three thousand two hundred ($3,200) dollars

For the payment of the salary of clerk as now fixed by law for the two fiscal years the sum of two thousand four hundred ($2,400) dollars

For the traveling and hotel expenses of the Supervisor and Assistant Supervisor cost of making special investigations contingent and office expenses and extra clerical assistance for the two fiscal years the sum of seven thousand six hundred ($7,600) dollars

Section 2 Upon approval of this act the State Treasurer after deducting from the entire amount appropriated and reappropriated the sums above designated for salaries and expenses shall divide the balance into two equal parts

The one part hereinafter referred to as the second part shall be held for distribution on and after the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty in the manner hereinafter provided

The other part shall upon the approval of this act be distributed and apportioned to the several counties of the State according to the following classification

First Class—Counties with a population of more than one million five hundred thousand inhabitants eighteen per centum

Second Class—Counties with a population of more than one million and not more than one million five hundred thousand inhabitants twelve per centum

Third Class—Counties with a population of more than two hundred thousand and not more than one million inhabitants equal parts of fifteen per centum

Fourth Class—Counties with a population of more than one hundred thousand and not more than two hundred thousand inhabitants equal parts of thirty per centum

Fifth Class—Counties with a population of more than fifty thousand and not more than one hundred thousand inhabitants equal parts of fifteen per centum

Sixth Class—Counties with a population of twenty-five thousand and not more than fifty thousand inhabitants equal parts of seven per centum

Seventh Class—Counties with a population of twenty-five thousand inhabitants or less equal parts of three per centum

Section 3 On the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty the State Treasurer shall set aside out of the second part to each county then organized under the Mothers' Assistance System a sum equal to that apportioned to it under the preceding section Except as in section five of this act provided the amount so set aside to any county together with the unexpended balance of the amount apportioned to the county during the first year shall constitute the State's assistance during the second year to such county

Section 4 No county shall receive any sum from the State under Sections two and three of this act unless such county shall appropriate a like sum for the same purpose

Section 5 The money set aside on the approval of this act to counties that were not at that time organized under the Mothers' System and which did not come into the System during the year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and twenty together with the balance of the second part remaining after the proper amounts have been set aside as provided in Section three shall constitute a fund to be known as the 'Surplus Fund

A county organized under the Mother's Assistance System prior to or during the year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and twenty may receive during the second year out of the surplus fund a sum additional to that apportioned and set aside to it under sections two and three

Section 6 No county shall participate in the Surplus Fund provided for in section five unless it shall appropriate for the same purpose a sum equal to the amount such county desires to receive from such surplus fund

No county shall be permitted to participate in such surplus fund to an amount in excess of twenty-five per centum of the aggregate sum apportioned and set aside by the State Treasurer to that county for the entire two year period

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

MEMORIAL SERVICES ON THE DEATH OF HONORABLE JAMES M. CAMPBELL, LATE SENATOR FROM THE FIFTIETH DISTRICT.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. Clarence J. Buckman) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. This being the time fixed by the resolution for holding the memorial services on the death of Honorable James M. Campbell, late Senator from the Fiftieth District, the Senate will be in order and will be opened with prayer by the Chaplain.

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas W. Davis, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we thank Thee for the life of the Honorable James M. Campbell. We shall all miss his friendly smile; his good-natured fellowship; his charming and courteous manners.

> "His life was gentle, and the elements
> So mixed in him, that Nature might stand up,
> And say to all the world, this was a man."

He was a distinguished lawyer, an efficient legislator, a broad-minded citizen. He loved his fellow-men, and his fellow-men loved and trusted him. He mixed freely with his neighbors; was a devoted and loyal churchman, and deeply interested in the management and welfare of the Sabbath school.

His family mourns the departure of a devoted son, a loyal husband, and a loving father; his State one of its most patriotic and public-spirited citizens; this Senate a genuine comrade and a true friend. His vacant chair admonishes on one again of the bravity, uncertainty and mystery of life. His premature departure we cannot understand.

> "Some time when all life's lessons here are learned,
> And sun and stars forever more have set,
> The things which our weak judgments here have spurned,
> The things o'er which we've wept with lashes wet,
> Will flash before us out of life's dark night,
> As stars shine most in deeper tints of blue,
> And we shall see how all God's plans are right,
> And how what we thought reproof was love most true."

We commend to Thy great love and care his aged mother, his beloved widow, and his devoted children. May the memory of his charming life be a source of deep comfort to his bereaved family, his relatives, and his many friends. These favors we ask in our Saviour's name. Amen.

RESOLUTION ON THE DEATH OF HONORABLE JAMES M. CAMPBELL, LATE SENATOR FROM THE FIFTIETH DISTRICT.

Mr. F. E. BALDWIN offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

Whereas, It hath pleased Divine Providence to remove from our midst Honorable James M. Campbell, the Senator from the Fiftieth District, composed of Crawford and Mercer counties: and

Whereas, His public and official career had distinguished him as one of the foremost citizens of his district and of the Commonwealth: therefor

Resolved, That the Senate give expression to the great loss it has sustained in the death of our colleague, whose qualities of heart and mind endeared him to all, in both his private and official life:

Resolved, That in James M. Campbell we found all the attributes of good citizenship, the able and upright lawyer, the energetic and successful man of affairs, the statesman of sterling qualities:

Resolved, That the loss of his community and to his many associates is irreparable; the loss to the Commonwealth is great, but the greatest of all is to his own home, and we, the members of the Senate surviving, tender our condolence to his family so bereaved and direct that a copy of these resolutions duly engrossed and attested be forwarded to his widow.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. F. E. BALDWIN. Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Senate: I wish to avail myself of this opportunity to speak very briefly, as there are several other speakers in support of the resolution.

When the word came that Senator James M. Campbell had died on the afternoon of June 11, it did not seem as if it was right or could be true. We had known of his operation a few days before; but each inquiry brought a favorable report. It was a great shock to all of us and we can hardly realize yet that we are to see our friend no more.

He first came into the Senate in the year 1907. Serving in the sessions of 1907 and 1909. With others now in this body, I had the honor and pleasure of serving with him in the session of 1909. He was out of the Senate two terms, being re-elected in November, 1918.

I want to say to my fellow Senators that I never knew a better fellow than Jim Campbell. He had a most charming disposition—always good-natured—and never without a pleasant smile. I esteemed him one of the ablest of our Senators. He was an especially good legislator and I am sure one of the best lawyers in the Senate. He was devoted to home and family—leaving to mourn his untimely death a wife and three children, his mother, one daughter and two sons. Both of his boys having been in the service of their country in the recent war. Senator Campbell at a little more than fifty years of age was at the zenith of his strength and influence. He had succeeded in working himself into a lucrative law practice—and business was most promising—in a few years more, in a financial way, he would have been on easy street: yet it is, that death reached out its hand and claimed him and we no longer have him in our midst.

His family mourn a most ideal husband, son and father; his county and State one of its most patriotic and eminent citizens; and this Senate, in my opinion, one of its best friends and as good a fellow as ever occupied a seat in this body. Our most sincere and heart-felt sympathy goes out to his bereaved family. Our dear, departed friend had all of the good qualities indicated in these lines:

> They are slipping away, these sweet, swift years
> Like a leaf on the current cast
> With never a break in their rapid flow
> We watch them as one by one they go,
> Into the beautiful past.
> There are but a few years left to live,
> Shall we waste them in idle strife?
> Shall we trample under our ruthless feet,
> These beautiful blossoms, fair and sweet
> By the dusty ways of life.

There are but a few years left,
Ah, let not envious taunts be heard;
Make life's fair pattern of rare design.
And fill up the measure with love's sweet wine;
But never an angry word.
Strew gladness on the paths of men,
You will not pass this way again.

Mr. PHIPPS. Mr. President, I surely am very much embarrassed to-day because I know it is impossible to express the sorrow in my heart caused by the death of my real friend, Jim Campbell. I have the honor to represent the Senatorial district adjoining the one he so ably represented. During this present session we have been frequent travelers together and I surely feel to-day that I would not be doing my duty to myself or the good people I represent if I were to miss this opportunity of adding a tribute of love and respect to this splendid citizen. For over twenty years we have been warm and devoted friends and I am glad to say to-day that the longer I knew Jim Campbell the better I admired him. He surely was a man among men and during all that long acquaintanceship with him I do not believe I ever heard him say one word that would injure a brother's feelings. We have missed him here in our Harrisburg home. This distinguished body will miss his advice and counsel and his sunny disposition. His family will miss the father and the husband who was ever thoughtful for their care, comfort and protection. How often and often have I heard him speak of those he left behind in the tenderest words of love and affection. Mr. President, as you all know we have just been passing the most critical period in the history of our country. There have been many days that have tried men's souls and men's pocketbooks. Every time there came an appeal from Washington for more of our boys and more of our money Jim Campbell was the first in his district to see that his community always went over the top. His oldest son was recently discharged from the service of the United States Army. His younger boy is still in the service of that country his father loved so well, still serving on the high seas on the battleship Texas, not knowing that he has lost his best friend on earth. It was not Senator Campbell's good fortune to have passed the allotted milestones on the highway of life, but he has left many more men on that highway that will never forget him. I do not believe anyone will ever know his many deeds of charity, of his kindly words, or the helping hand that he gave many a fellow-traveller along that same highway. If I were limited to one phrase in which to describe James Campbell I would say his sunny disposition. When death laid its icy hands upon him, although I saw him in death, as he lay there, unmindful of the stormy voyage of life, I always want to remember him as I knew him with the same smile on his face. Mr. President, when the committee of this distinguished body went to Mercer to say their last farewell to Jim Campbell we saw there a large concourse of friends and relatives, and especially men, that I believe I ever saw at the funeral of a public man. Senator Campbell has laid down the burdens and cares and responsibilities of a busy life, but the memory he left behind will never be forgotten, and as we laid him to rest in the hills of Mercer for that last long sleep in that "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" in the midst of a wilderness of flowers we left his faults upon the sands, but his love and memory will live in our hearts forever.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate: Just in the closing hours of this session of the Senate the last session of the term for which I have been elected, just before I say good-bye to you, my friends, whom I have grown to know so well, I am called upon to discharge the saddest duty that has ever fell to my lot. During the four years that I have spent among you I have made many fast friends. I have grown to know and to respect you. It fills my heart with sadness now, just on the eve of our saying good-bye and going back home to have to say something in memory of one of my best brothers. I expect to value highly all my friendship with you men whom I have come to know, and in many a long weary hour in years to come I expect to see your faces in the eye of my memory, to hear your kindly voices in the ears of my imagination and in my dreams to see your outstretched hands and the smile of good-fellowship on your faces. I expect to make more pleasant and more endurable the lonely years to come by the memories of the men whom I have met, the men whom I have grown to love in this Senate and among all of you there was no one with whom I have been so closely and intimately associated as Jim Campbell. Every Monday morning since the beginning of this session I met him in the Union Station at Pittsburgh. He came swinging down the side entrance always just as my train came in. He was always swinging that black bag of his from side to side in his strong left hand, and always had his right hand stretched out. The first thing he said to me was "Why Davie!" That is how I expect to see Jim Campbell in all the years to come. He always had that merry twinkle in his eye and that sunny little grin on his face, which I shall never forget. Since I have been in this Senate six of the members of this body have passed away, each one in succession has been a blow to me, but I think the heaviest one of all has been Jim Campbell's going away. We slept in the same room all session; we ate at the same table; our seats joined each other in this Senate Chamber. We were associated in the work of the Appropriations Committee all over the State, and in the work of the Committee on Judiciary General. Senator Campbell and I worked hand in hand. In this work I consulted him and he consulted me. He talked to me about his business affairs. He talked to me about his family. He was planning to build a fine new home for that girl of his and those boys and his wife, whom he loved so well, just before he died. Night after night he sat down at our house long after I had gone to bed in the darkness, smoking that same long black toby and telling me his plans for the future, for Jim had just gotten into shape where he could do for his family what he wanted. I do not want to say anything to you about his qualities as a man, as a statesman, or as a lawyer, but I just want to say a few words about Jim Campbell as my friend, because Jim was one of those rare men to whom friendship meant something. Jim is gone and I feel that I have sustained a personal loss, greater perhaps than any other man in this body. My companion has gone. Your friend has gone, but he was my constant associate. It is just like breaking old ties, it is just going home now all alone, leaving behind Jim, whom I had grown to cherish. There is not much that can be said that can truly express what one thinks about these things. To have our pleasant associations broken up through death like this means a shock to us all. My friends, I do not want to preach any sentiment. I know that you men know that I have no qualifications for preaching a sermon, but now at the closing of the session, when I feel melancholy and blue, because of our going away and because of the death of my friend I have been thinking for the last two or three days that those things do contain for us a lesson. You know we are prone to take each other for granted, we enjoy each other's society and companionship without thinking very much about it. We are not as considerate and as tender of each other's feelings as we ought to be. We go through life, taking it just as it comes, especially when we get a shock like this and one of our best friends has gone, we are sorry that we did not make him understand while he was here what he did mean to us, because it might have lightened his pathway if he had known it while he was here. It does not do any good to sprinkle flowers on a man's coffin. They do not shed any fragrance back o'er the weary way he traveled over. Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Senate, it seems to me kindness never healed anybody's wounded heart. We ought, in memory of these friends of ours who have gone resolve, that to our other friends who are left behind, we are going to be more kind and considerate, that we are going to tell them once in awhile how highly we value their friendship, that we are going to show them while they are here the things we are accustomed to say of them after they are gone.

Closed eyes cannot see the white roses;
Cold hands cannot hold them you know.
The breath that is stilled cannot gather
The odors that sweet from them flow.
Death with a peace beyond dreaming,
Its creatures of earth doth endow.
Life is the time we can love them,
So give them the flowers now.

Jim is gone and his place with me can never be filled, but when I cross the shore, if God is just good enough to let me go to the same place that he has taken Jim, I am sure that one of the first faces I will see when I get there will be Jim Campbell's and he will come up to me and say just the same as he said in the Pittsburgh station so often, "How are you Davie?" That will be reward enough for me.

Mr. HACKETT. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate: Men are mortal. They live and die. The Honorable James M. Campbell is dead. Today his chair is draped in sable and we are here to honor him, to keep his memory green. Today our heads are bowed in reverence—the spirit of our departed friend is with us. The vision of his familiar face fills our fancy. We feel the warm hand clasp of this departed friend. We hear the sound of his voice like an echo from the grave—the music of his laughter that has gone silent forever more. We look again into the splendid eyes that have been shadowed in eternal sleep. We see him in the ways of life in the full flower of manhood, in our Senate councils and in our courts, where right and error battle for the prize—a man fired with prospects and with hope of future—not an old man upon whose head had settled the snow of life's early winter.

We see him at his own fireside with those he loves, with wife and children flushed with health and joy, happy and contented. We see him on his bed of sickness wrapped in pain. We feel the hush and the dread of the last writing. We see him cold in death, his white pulseless temples moist with tears.

We see him laid to rest amid long rows of marble shafts —laid to rest in silence and in peace—left to sunshine and to shadow, to summer's rain and winter's snow—while from his grave rises a memory as soft as the subtle fragrance of hidden flowers. Today we pay him open tribute of our tears. Our hearts go out to where he sleeps and on his sodden temple we pour our benediction and our love.

We cannot express our loss or our regret. Words are but a feeble failure. Our silence is more eloquent than all our speech because the heart has never learned a language. The qualities of regret and grief and hope and love cannot be defined. The anguish of a tear cannot be told. Emotions are felt, not spoken. In the bosom of every one here today there is a silent eulogy too tender for the power of speech, too graceful to be uttered by the awkward tongue, too subtle for the ear to understand.

James M. Campbell fought a good fight, he finished his course, he kept the faith. He left to us the legacy of a name rich with his history of kind deeds, of honesty, and good will. He rose like a comet across the sky of our world, shedding his light and love, and sank again from our sight. Whether he passed to distant fields to play his part with the lives of other men, we cannot tell. We only know that he has drawn the curtain that drapes the world in mystery; that he has crossed the vale of shadows; has played the mournful tradegy that waits on each and every life.

"There is no flock, however watched or tended,
But one dead lamb is there;
There is no fireside, howsoe'r defended,
But has one vacant chair."

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, I feel that there is very little that I can add to the splendid tribute already expressed about Senator Campbell. In 1907 when I first came to this Capitol as a member of the House of Representatives James Campbell was a Senator and I knew him but little in that session and I grew to know him and to have very great respect for him as a Senator and as a man, not from intimate acquaintance, but because of his standing in this chamber, because of his ability as a lawyer and because of his genuine good sense and qualifications to fill the position which he was able to hold here at those two sessions of 1907 and 1909. However, when I came to this body as a Senator and met this gentleman and sat with him in this hall, close to him, I became acquainted with him better and more fully did I appreciate the splendid qualities of manhood, character and ability which he possessed. However, that is not the most precious memory that remains with me now since his death. It was in our home in Harrisburg where I got to know him still better, and to see beneath the outward appearance the fine qualities which we all recognized, and it was at that home that I grew to love him all the better. Upon the receipt of the telegram conveying the sad news of his death, I felt that it was impossible for me to leave home and attend that funeral, but on second thought, I decided, whether impossible or not, I would attend that funeral and so I would go in the night thirty miles to get the Erie train so that I could reach his home the next day and pay the last tribute of respect that I could pay to my friend, as told you by Senator Phipps, at the splendid funeral we took part in at Mercer, and the expressions of so many of his neighbors and friends as to his qualities, had their effect also of burning into the splendid qualities of the man's heart and I shall always be exceedingly glad that I made that trip for the benefit of the good that it has done me. How well I remember the recent trip to Philadelphia. I think it was the time we went down to the parade at the reception of the Twenty-Eighth Division, and one night after dinner the party seemed to have broken up. Jim Campbell and I were thrown together in the evening and we walked down South Broad Street, so crowded with soldiers and civilians, dancing on the pavement, bands playing, we took a long walk possibly a couple of hours, and I shall never forget what we talked about and the insight I got in those two hours of conversation with this high minded man. I shall never forget those impressions, they will always linger with me as precious memories. We talked of so many different things and of his family, and of his aged mother, and how the boys were in the war, how one was recently married and also of his growing up on the farm and of his birth. It was on that evening that I learned more about my friend and learned more of the splendid disposition that he had, and above all things his helpfulness and thoughtfulness of others, and of his kindly nature. Everything he said was prompted by love and affection and kindliness and I know that because of my living with him in the same house, because of my sitting with him in the Senate that my own nature is a bit more of that same character, thank God. There was one characteristic that I feel we should all get some benefit out of and emphasize at this time, and that was the fact that Senator Campbell was straightforward and although courteous and kindly to friends yet he was not a waverer, he was not one who dodged an issue, he was not one who was a coward or a hypocrite, he was true to his convictions, he was true to his friends. He could not be any other way, and I think as Senators we can take a lesson from that, at least, addition to his splendid other qualities which have been so splendidly reiterated and emphasized here today. I want to add also a tribute to his quality of being loyal, true, patriotic, and sturdy; he was one who never wavered from what he thought was right and just, although he did not have any offensive way of imposing his views upon anyone else or anything of that sort, still he stood pat and stood true for what he believed in. I think that to my mind in our association with him that he was rather the typical character of a Pennsylvania State Senator. I think that he embodied, perhaps more largely than any of the rest of us, all the qualities of manhood that go to make up the splendid atmosphere and morale of a Pennsylvania State Senator. I believe that we all appreciate those qualities that we found in Senator Campbell, I believe that it is the tradition of this body and the motive of most of our hearts, to maintain as the spirit and as the atmsophere and morale of this body those splendid qualities that we found in Senator Campbell, and in his death those qualities will be more clearly defined and more clearly appreciated, and I hope that on the part of those of us who are remaining they will be more clearly and more loyally lived up to.

Mr. DONAHUE. Mr. President, it was my pleasure to know Senator Campbell less than six months and during that short duration of time it was my pleasure to know him and to know him well. When I first came to this Senate in January, 1919, one of the first men I met in the Senate was Senator Campbell, and from the time that I met him, the first day that I came here until the last day in which he was in this Senate it was our great pleasure to ever be close and near to each other. I learned to love Senator Campbell as I learned to love perhaps but a few that I came in contact with in this august body. I learned to love him because he was a man among men. Wherever he was, whatever he did, it was his full purpose to do the things which were best for the greatest number of people, and I believe it was his purpose throughout all his life to do those things. Senator Campbell was a man of more than ordinary ability. He had a heart that was as pure as gold; he had an intellect that was far above the average; he had an affable way about him; he had a kindly greeting; he was generous wherever you met him and in all our association, and it was my privilege to associate with him in some of the trips which he took, and be closely associated with him. I never heard him say an unkind word against either colleague or opponent. He stood well in his community. He was beloved by one and all. He made no distinction who they might be. They were all his friends. He laid politics aside and he was a man among men. His first thought and his greatest thought always uppermost in his mind that of a loving family and I can see the smile upon his face yet as I met his family for the first and only time in Pittsburgh, not many weeks ago, when he made me acquainted with them. The kindly smile that was on his face of the love that he had for his family and I believe that the last word that I had with him on that occasion especially was for his family, and I believe that the last word that I had with him on that occasion was his relation with his church, with the community in which he lived, and oh what a splendid thing it is, what a splendid thing it was for him, and what a splendid thing for us all that we might have foremost in thought in mind the loved ones who are not always with us and those who are near and dear to us in the great work in which we are engaged and especially that work of the church. He had a character that was far above the first touch of reproach. It made no difference what his work was his character was unquestioned and unquestionable. He did not display this among his friends. He left them to decide for themselves the highest type of manhood. He has been taken from us in the very prime of life. A man of but fifty years of age, splendid physique, perfect in health as it seemed to us, was called from our midst in but a few moments of time. Oh, how splendid life is when we stand in all our glory and in all our manhood, in all our health and strength. Oh how beautiful the flowers are, how beautiful the birds sing and the bees hum and how nature presents itself before us. Then we are happy because life rolls along like a song, but when sickness comes and distress comes into our family and into our home, oh then how these things turn from happiness unto sadness, and so it has been with our dear friend, Senator Campbell. He had a happy home; he lived in a community that was happy; his friends about him were happy because they knew the life of this man, and then the grim hand of death came down and touched him and took him away. He is absent today; he is absent from this body but he is here in spirit. He is among us now, the self same kindly smile, the self same kindly greeting which has always been near and dear to us. If we would only live after the example of his life, if we would only do in a small measure the things he did in a great measure, then I am sure we would all be happier; that we will all know life better because I believe he understood it and understood it well. He understood not only this life but the life beyond. He was a firm believer in immortality, the splendid thought of the world to come. He did not fear this life; he did not fear death; he did not fear going. There was only one thing he left when he left this world and that was the thought of those who were near and dear to him. For himself he had no fear. He knew that some time sooner or later in life he must be called and I can imagine that when he stood upon that brink and looked over into space and the great beyond he met it face to face with the same kindly smile that he greeted you and that he greeted me when he was here among us, and having this great thought of the immortality of the life beyond he lived a better life. He did not know that he would be called so soon in life, nor do we know yet how long our time shall be, but he was prepared, he was prepared every day of his life that when it should come he would be prepared to meet his Maker beyond. And may it be said of him as it was said of another, that

"When I shall pass beyond the regions of night,
When my corpse shall recline upon its bier
May no faction or fame emblazen my name,
All I wish, all I ask, is a tear."

Or may it be said of him as is expressed by those beautiful words of Tennyson when he said:

"Sunset and evening star and one clear call for me,
And may there be no meaning of the bar when I put out to see
But such a tide as moving seems asleep, too full for sound or foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep, turns again home

Twilight and evening bell, and after that the dark,
And may there be no sadness of farewell when I embark,
For thought from out the bourne of time and place, the flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my pilot face to face when I have crossed the bar."

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?
